Baldwin Gives Answers on Postal Squabble

Congressman John F. Baldwin, 14th district, clarified the status of the Moraga - Rheem post office investigation in a letter to The Sun this week.

Baldwin did not order a survey. The regional post office initiated the investigation, he said.

Since the January meeting of the Moraga Valley Community Club, residents have been up in arms over the rumor that Moraga would be split into two parts, Rheem and Moraga.

THE CLUB learned that this could be accomplished if postal delivery service from the Rheem Post Office were extended.

A second post office for Moraga was established in Rheem Center in 1957 after a heated debate.

Residents were then concerned that a section of the area would lose its historic identity as "Moraga" and become "Rheem." An unincorporated area gets its name from the post office which serves it.

However, it was explained by post office officials that the principal function of the second post office would be to serve the merchants in the center.

The old post office, established 1886, is at the fork of Moraga Way and St. Mary's Road, a few miles from the center.

Because of the community's "serious concern," Richard Kossyrka, president of the community club, tried to uncover the reason for the survey; who requested it; when is would take place; and would it be available to the community for review.

THESE QUESTIONS recieved conflicting answers, or on answers at all, from local sources.

In an attempt to obtain the pertinent facts in the matter, The Sun contacted Baldwin, who gave the following information from his Washington, D.C. office:

December 20, 1962, Baldwin was contacted by Mortimer F. Withoft, vice president, special projects, Rheem California Land Company.

Withoft stated that a new bank was being built in the center. This is the Rheem Valley branch of Crocker Anglo Bank. The bank had asked if it would be possible to have postal delivery as distinct from simply having a post office box at the Rheem Post Office, according to Withoft.

A SPOKESMAN for the bank at the San Francisco main office stated that he had no knowledge of such a request. "Normally it is more efficient and quicker for us to pick up our mail at the post office box. It would be premature to apply for delivery so far in advance," he said.

Withoft told Baldwin that "other merchants in the Rheem Shopping Center likewise desired to obtain postal delivery rather than just having local post office boxes."

Baldwin stated that December 20 he wrote a letter to Raymond R. Holmquist, regional director, San Francisco Regional Office, Post Office Department.

"The incoming bank and some of the merchants are anxious to obtain door - to - door postal delivery from the present Rheem Post Office," Baldwin wrote to Holmquist. "Will you please let me know what requirements they have to meet to obtain such door-to-door delivery?"

BALDWIN reiterated the fact that his letter did not request that a survey be made, but "simply asked what the requirements would be to obtain door-to-door delivery."

January 9, 1963, he received a reply from Raymond R. Holmquist, regional director which contained the following statements:

"In order to qualify for city delivery service, the receipts of the post office must be at least $10,000 for the preceding fiscal year. This requirement is met.

"There should be a population of approximately 2500 within the area to be served. The Moraga office presently delivers within two blocks of the Rheem Post Office.

"It will be necessary for boundaries to be established between these offices to determine whether the population requirement can be met.

"AN INVESTIGATION will be conducted to establish postal boundaries between Rheem and Moraga, and you will be informed of our findings as soon as possible," stated Holmquist.

Holmquist was not available for comment at press time.

"You will see that the post office department itself decided to make a survey because I simply requested information to answer an inquiry,' 'commented Baldwin.

I WELL REMEMBER the controversy which arose in the Moraga and Rheem area some years ago when there was a dispute as to the names to be applied to these respective areas and to the type of postal service to be given to these areas," said Baldwin.

"I shall once again be guided by the views of the majority of people in those areas. I am certain, from past experience in other areas, that the Post Office Department will not change the postal delivery service from the Moraga Post Office to the Rheem Post Office unless a majority of the residents indicate by petition that they desire to have such a change made," Baldwin said.

"Unless and until I receive a clear indication by such a petition that the majority of the residents desired such a change in postal delivery, I would not support such a change," he stated.

ON BEHALF of the community club, Kostyrka, addressed a letter to Postmaster General J. Edward Day, Washington, D.C., requesting clarification of the issue. No reply has been recieved.

One of the chief users of the Rheem Post Office is the Christian Brothers Provincial House, which is located in Donald L. Rheem's former estate on Moraga Way and Devin Drive.

From here, communications for the order are sent monthly throughout the world, carrying the "Rheem" postmark.

Sun Offers Arm Chair Travel on Wednesday

Views of "Enchanting Japan" and "Kyoto" are in store for central county residents attending the Sun Travel night Wednesday at the Acalanes High School Cafeteria, 8 p.m.

"All are invited to this free evening of our arm chair travel, sponsored by The Sun," Editor-Publisher Herman Silverman said.

Silverman will speak briefly on The Sun's 22-day Orient Holiday during the evening.

Over half of the reservations for the tour have been filled, he reported.

The films have been provided through arrangements with the Japan Tourist Association. They are in color and with sound.

"Enchanting Japan" begins with a traveler's view of a flight into Tokyo.

Arriving in this colorful city, the tourist will then take a sightseeing jaunt through the Tokyo business district and shopping center.

A rail trip from Tokyo takes the armchair tourist all the way from Lafayette to such cities as Kmakura, Hakone, Nara, Osaka and Nikko.

During stops enroute, viewers will be treated to close looks at the beauties and cultural activities of Japan.

Golfing at Hakone, the fishing industry at Nagoya and a pottery making demonstration at Kyoto are among the featured subjects.

In addition, "Miyako Odori" cherry dancing at Kyoto will be shown as will "Bugaku" court dancing at Nara.

For the youngsters, a "Bunraku" puppet play at Osaka may please.

The film "Kyoto" also in color and with sound will take the audience into the heart of this ancient city for views of day-to-day life as well as commercial cultral and commercial activities.

The Sun Orient Tour departs from San Francisco April 18.

Due to recent changes in BOAC jet schedules, two bonus days in Hong Kong have been provided.

Big Step Taken To Make Laf. Reservoir a Public Facility

State OK's 179 Acres For Limited Rec Use

The possibility grew stronger yesterday that the Lafayette Reservoir can some time be opened up as a limited recreational facility for the public.

There are still three big "ifs" to be worked out, however, before the plan becomes a reality.

These would include the forthcoming actions by a citizen's advisory committee, and the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors.

"I FEEL THAT we're now making some headway in getting this reservoir opened for public use," said Mel Nielsen, this area's representative on the board of supervisors.

His statement was in reference to a State Department of Public Health action which granted EBMUD permission to open both Chabot and Lafayette reservoirs for limited recreational use.

The precedent - making decision was reached only after E. A. Reinke, chief of the state's Bureau of Sanitary Engineering, said that if regulations are complied with public use of the reservoirs will not render the district's water supply "impure, unwholesome, or unpotable."

UNDER the presently-drawn-up proposal, the Lafayette Reservoir, if thrown open to the public, would be developed to allow such limited recreation as sailing, fishing, hiking, picnicking, non-powered boating and general recreation.

Jack Malloy, director of property planning for EBMUD, said a basic decision by the utility's directors probably will be made later this month.

The directors can do any one of many things. They can voluntarily throw open the Lafayette Reservoir for public use. They can operate it as a public facility if they so desire. They can call for a public vote on the matter. Or they can go ahead and lease out the 179 acres to Contra Costa County.

THERE ARE 50 persons on the citizens' advisory committee involved in recommendations as to what can be done with the Lafayette Reservoir and, according to Malloy of EBMUD, "It's really difficult to tell ahead of time what this group might recommend.

"A certain segment of them might be 100 per cent against any recreational use of the reservoir, and another portion might favor the idea entirely."

Duane Mattison, Contra Costa County park director, said the State Department of Public Health's action was "a big step" in paving the way for Lafayette Reservoir to be used by the public.

"I STILL stick by the recommendation that I made some time ago which is that the county should volunteer to take over the Lafayette Reservoir as a county facility. Maybe such a recommendation will soon be enacted upon by the board of supervisors."

Hart Eastman, secretary to EBMUD's directors, has estimated it would cost $540,000 for improvements at Chabot, and $315,000 at Lafayette. Operating costs at each would be about $100,000 a year.

The East Bay Regional Park District has expressed strong interest in operating the Chabot Reservoir.

Problems To Be Discussed by County Analyst

Police protection, road maintenance and the county's administration of planning and zoning for the Orinda area will be discussed Monday at a public meeting.

Joseph Connery, administrative analyst for the county, will address a meeting of the civic affairs committee of the Orinda Association at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Orinda School.

Charles Legge, chairman, suggested that a representative of each community organization attend.

Board Discusses New Site for Main Fire Station

Site acquisition of a new headquarters station for the Orinda Fire District was the topic at a special meeting of the fire commissioners Wednesday night. The board convened at 7:30 p.m. at the main station.

Nothing definite has been decided as yet, according to President Charles Langridge.

Present site on Avenida de Orinda, opposite Phair's parking lot in the village, is outgrown, according to the board. It states that there is inadequate room for equipment, shop work and other activities.

Another factor mentioned in seeking a different locale is that the station's lower floor has been flooded on several occasions by the overflow of San Pablo Creek.

One of the sites being considered is on Orinda Way, adjacent to Ogden's other sites are also being considered.

By the next meeting of the board, Thursday night, the committee hopes to have something definite to report.

GOLDEN SUNBURSTS on black corrugated matting will be part of the decor at the Orinda Art Center's mardi gras tomorrow night at Orinda Country Club. Shown working on the three-dimensional sunbursts are (from left) Mmes. Ralph T. Hickcox, Fenn J. Wilson, Lloyd Hecathorn and Spencer Archer. Between 7 p.m. and 1 a.m. members and their guests will enjoy dinner and dancing to Gordon Heche's orchestra. Sun photo by Bob Dulas

HS District OK's $669,000 Work For 2 Schools

Acalanes Union High School District trustees Wednesday approved a five-project construction program for the next year and a half for district facilities.

The projects include plans for a counseling and lunch area at Las Lomas, three additional classrooms at Las Lomas to meet anticipated enrollment growth, improvements to the Las Lomas boys' locker room, addition of tennis courts at the district's high schools and construction of the next class wing at Campolindo High School.

DECISION ON construction for the coming year was made after a study of priorities of need and available construction funds.

The proposed construction work is estimated to cost $699,000, which will be provided from the $3.9 million bond that was approved by the district's voters in 1961.

If this amount of construction work is accomplished, then there will be only $100,000 left from the original bond money.

Waldie, BARTD To Confer

Assemblyman Jerome Waldie will meet with Bay Area Rapid Transit District legal and bond counsel soon to discuss the bill BARTD says will kill the system.

The announcement came yesterday from B. R. Stokes, assistant general manager of the district.

"Waldie has said he is not convinced his bill would destroy the district," Stokes said.

"We feel we can convince him it will," he said.

The bill calls for cutting away the industry-rich eastern county from tax support of the district until direct service is provided the area.

Transit officials expressed disappointment but no surprise at the vote of county supervisors to endorse Waldie's measure.

Supervisors Edmund Linscheid, Joe Silva and Mel Nielsen voted for endorsement, opposed by James P. Kenny, chairman of the board, and Supervisor Tom Coll.

"Because of Nielsen's early position on transit, and because Silva and Linscheid represent the areas referred to in Waldie's bill, we were not surprised," Stokes said.

Waldie himself predicted the outcome in The Sun three weeks ago.

On another transit front, the taking of depositions is underway in the taxpayers' suit against the district, and pretrial has been set for March 11.

Mother Critically Shoots Pleasant Hill Intruder

A young Walnut Creek woman, alone with her four children, emptied a loaded gun into a Pleasant Hill man Tuesday night, critically wounding him, after he broke into her house, according to reports of the sheriff's office.

Mrs. Darlene Cucaharia, 1760 Geary Road, told deputies she fired after the man, later identified as Donald Triplett, 23, of 2940 Putnam Boulevard, Pleasant Hill, lunged at her.

Wednesday morning at county hospital, Detective James Stephenson talked to the semi-conscious man who said he had been drinking and entered the house because he wanted to get out of the rain.

NO COMPLAINT was issued pending full investigation of the case, although Captain Walter D. Trawick said Triplett was apparently in the act of committing a felony when he was shot.

Mrs. Cucaharia, whose husband works at night, told deputies she was awakened by noises in the kitchen at 11:15 Tuesday night. She discovered that the bedroom light she had left burning, was turned off. She rose, went to the bathroom and lit the light there.

Hearing noise again in the kitchen, she went back to her bedroom, loaded a .22 caliber revolver in a dresser drawer, came out of the bedroom and saw the man three feet away.

When he lunged at her, said Mrs. Cucaharia, she started shooting. She fired seven times. Triplett ran through the kitchen window.

A NEXT DOOR neighbor, Rosemary Romeo, 17, of 1736 Geary Road, heard the wounded man cry for help. She called her father, who summoned the deputies.

Deputies Arendtson and Settenbrina, investigating the scene, said the window screen had been removed from the kitchen window, indicating Triplett had apparently entered there. Blood was found on the kitchen floor and sill.

Mrs. Cucaharia said she had no conversation with the man at all.

Triplett, who works in San Pablo for the Oliver Rubber and Tire Company, was shot in the mouth and the rib cage. He told Detective Stephenson he had gotten off the bus on Geary Road at 9:15. He stated he had been drinking in San Pablo. He entered the Cucharia house to get out of the rain, took one step through the door and met a barrage of bullets, he said.

IN OTHER investigations this week, deputies are questioning students about latest theft of uniforms at St. Mary's College in Moraga over the weekend.

For the second time in the current basketball season, the college team lost its shirts and pants.

College officials reported a rash of thefts and burglaries dating back to last fall. One student, Dale Bartoletti, told deputies the lock on his room had been picked and records and clothing worth $107 were taken.

In December, the first time the uniforms were stolen, the college sustained a $365.24 loss.

Two dishwashers and two garbage disposals valued at a total of $620 were carted away from the Danco Delivery and Moving Service, 1330 Boulevard Way, Walnut Creek, over the weekend, according to deputies' reports.

Weekend Weather Forecast

Central county will enjoy fair weather today with night and morning low overcast, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Temperatures will remain above normal. Low will be near 50; high near 60.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy. And there is a good chance of rain tomorrow and Sunday.

The forecaster couldn't explain why rain always hits the county on weekends!

Routine Meet on Plan F Expected

Few changes are expected in Unification Plan F as augmented committees on school district reorganization meet Tuesday and February 26 to establish a final recommendation to the State Board of Education.

Nevertheless, the public is invited to attend both meetings, however routine they might be, County Committee Chairman Jack Shabazian said.

The committee will be augmented by representatives of Acalanes, Canyon, Moraga and Orinda school districts Tuesday, 8 p.m., at Pine Grove School in Orinda.

On the 26th, Walnut Creek, Lafayette and Acalanes will augment the same committee at Stanley School in Lafayette at 8 p.m.

The plan proposes creation of two unified districts: Canyon - Moraga - Orinda elementaries plus Miramonte and Campolindo High Schools, and Walnut Creek-Lafayette elementaries plus Del Valle, Acalanes and Las Lomas high schools.

Bus Turn-out Is Chamber Topic

Freeway construction in the county was the chief topic at the Orinda Chamber of Commerce meeting yesterday.

Albert E. Simmons, supervising highway engineer, San Francisco District Four, spoke at the noon luncheon meeting at Casa Orinda.

Simmons discussed the bus turn-out for Orinda which will be put out to bid again this spring. The bids exceeded the state allotment for the project last fall, and th project was temporarily shelved.

MRS. WILLIAM Scatena, president of Pine Grove Parents Club, explained the group's current project to turf the school athletic field.

After it has been turfed, the district will maintain the field, which would be the only one of its kind in Orinda, according to Mrs. Scatena.

"Tickets for Turfing may be purchased from any member of the parents' club board or from the school. Donors, besides helping to turf the field, may be awarded a season ticket for the Giants' 57 home games for 1963," said Mrs. Scatena.

Committee for the Edward I. deLaveaga memorial plans to meet Thursday.

President Ed Amatrone reminded members who have not done so to send dues for the current fiscal year.

A progress report of the total foreign language program in the Orinda Union School District will be given to the district's trustees at an adjourned meeting Monday night. It will be at Pine Grove School auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Hubert Molina of Contra Costa Junior College, who heads the Campolindo High School Language program, will participate in the program.

Molina was chosen to go to Washington, D.C. to represent this state in a confab of teachers of Spanish and Portuguese.

"ALL ORINDANS are invited who are interested in learning how our language program fits into all grade levels," said Mrs. Esther Johnson, foreign language coordinator for the district.

She will introduce the following speakers from the language department:

Mrs. Edith Andree, fourth grade, Orinda School; Mrs. Adelle Spiess, Del Rey; Mrs. Florence Smith, sixth grade, Pine Grove.

Two sixth and seventh grade teachers will report on the language program at the intermediate level. They are Mrs. Ruth Worswick, Inland Valley Intermediate, and Henry Ramirez, Pine Grove Intermediate.

Mrs. Johnson was chosen to work on the state committee for foreign languages at elementary school level. She will give a comprehensive report of the statewide trend, as well as the specific work being done within the district.

SPANISH IS the only language being taught in Orinda's seven schools in compliance with the national program.

Mrs. Johnson recommends an article in February 16 issue of Saturday Review as excellent background material for this program. It is written by the editor of the New York Times.

School Trustee Incumbents File

Three incumbents have filed for three vacancies which will occur on the Moraga School Board this spring.

The four-year terms of Dr. Leonard Morgenstern and Robert Amber are expiring. Also, the two-year term of Frederic Sawyer will expire.

The three trustees have filed for re-election.

Sawyer was appointed to fulfill the vacancy on the board caused when former President Don Falconer resigned due to being transferred out of the area.

An appointee filling out an unexpired term, automatically stands for election at the next bi-annual trustee election.

Those serving on the board whose terms are not up are President Rex Collings and Al Haskell.

Filing deadline is March 1. The election will be April 16.

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

Bavarian Cream . . .

LA VIE Tyrolean came to town last wknd. Miramonte Parents' Club put its annual fund-raiser jamboree at the high school & transformed the gym into a real Alpine retreat.

YOU COULDN'T see the forest for the trees, 75 of 'em, saved from the past holiday season & resuscitated by Dana Cook w/a couple of dozen cans of spray. (She returned them to fresh green state & stored them in her backyard as well as at Betty Dewing's.)

While this ton of leftover trees may have missed the tinsel treatment at Christmastime, they made up for it Sat. night in a setting that included a huge painted backdrop of the Matterhorn which Dana duplicated w/paintbrush on butcher paper.

TABLES covered w/red & white checkered cloths & the usual drippy candle holders set a scene of candlelight glow in front of the majestic mountain that transported guests, for a mere $2.50 ticket to a front-row seat in St. Moritz.

LIKE A PAGE out of Heidi; Holly Newman captivating the audience from her place on the piano: She wore an authentic Swiss costume (brought during the family's stay last year in Lausanne) & sounded out some pretty authentic yodeling learned from her older sister Julie who appeared in a ski skit w/Katie Jones (another girl who knows first-hand of La Vie Tyrolean having lived in Switzerland recently), Fred Neighbor and Robie Spott.

ALPINE ANTICS . . . Pop & Mildred Gunn having a gay time mit der matching Lederhosen on . . . Ditto the Sauerkraut Band who were completely costumed & played superlative music for whatever the dance style or occasion!

THE ALPS had nothing on the high school gym's hardwood, either! It was polished to a positive Schuss-boom & Betty Pilgrim, dancing w/principal Jim Lewis, suddenly found herself slaloming to a spill center-floor. She wasn't the only one & just like in skiing, there were those who shied from the "slippery slopes" of the dance floor.

HOWARD MEL of Berkeley brought in a black bag or case that one might cart a legless giraffe around in. From its confines, he extricated the two parts, which, when joined together, formed the 12 ft. Alphorn he blew to start the party rolling!

Post-party, the Mels went home for coffee w/the Frank Newmans & Frank & son Bob had a turn at the horn. The horn blew at midnight but so far no complaints from the confines of Acacia Drive. (Someone did report, however, seeing a bevy of Bossy cows headed down Hacienda Circle about the same midnight hour).

Yoo-hoo-Lady-o!

Jewel Patton & Ellen Cook, shared co-chairman duties, saw to it that introductions were the order of the evening . . . Stella Boyle & Vera Hopkins, co-hosted an early dinner party at the Boyles', the menu reading something like Vienna Sausage, Red Cabbage, Potato Pancakes & Apple Strudel!

COLORFUL Tyrolean vests & aprons on couples Jack & Vera Ford, the Loren Mowreys, Bill Morgensens, Jim Maddens & Howard Youngs who tended the coffee & coke refreshments for thirsty guests. . . . Tkt. Chrmn. Jean Vicars behind a mountain of money & ducats, ducking home early w/Vic since they'd been out late the night before.

Frans Yedidia & Newman, Hazel Odenthal, Caroline Odenthal some of the tyrolean terpsichoreans in Parents Club pres. Winnie Gilmore's dance group . . . Helen & Kenneth Brown w/the Tevis Thompsons . . . Marvin & Beverly Bond on the dance floor.

FROM A to Zermatt or Zurich, the atmosphere was Alpine . . . but more from Abercrumble & Flinch or SACKS Fifth was the ski ensemble modeled by Baguette Mollie Nelson who got a royal reception in her regal $295 Phyllis Diller of an outfit!

Marian Brown sailed on stage in snowshoes sporting her Bargain Basement buy, a rummage ($1.95) number, vintage '37.

THE HERB WATERMANS in the throng, ditto the Barc Simpsons (Joan joined the stage dance group), the Buzz Lees (Irma handled the program entertainment), Bob Callan, Miramonte's dean of boys, the Spence Archers.

NEWS & MUSE: The Ed Wallaces celebrating their 30th Annvy. w/a big gathering at Mike Lynn's for dinner last Fri. night . . . There were toasts all around first for their guests at the Wallace's home.

Tom Courtright renewing old times w/his long-time friend, Mr. Wormald, who came all the way from Canada to visit his one-time boss.

SUNDAY sightem: Dorothy & Lance Barden looking tres jeune & jaunty in their black Jaguar, off to Pleasanton for a "Swap Meet" of the Horseless Carriage Clubbers. This is where owners of vintage autos "horseless-trade" extra parts, fenders, lights, etc. & Lance came home w/a much-needed carburetor for the old Metz he's mending into magnificence.

WHICH REMINDS US: When Dorothy Barden was driving her young granddaughter she pulled down Valley View to turn onto Moraga & Susie piped up a sudden warning—"Watch out, car. Here comes Grandma!" Which, for some reason or other, reminds us of a line in GYPSY! (Don't you wish Roz Russell could SING!! Oh, well, you can't have everything, but her basso sure missed the boat in THAT one!)

FOUND: Two or more Washburn (WASHBUCKET, rah!) Alumnae: Helen Kohler . . . & Peggy Cole Nickerson. Anybody here from old Azusa? Anaheim?

EVERYBODY's asked around but no one knows YET who those five (5) men were at the CivAffrs. Incorp. meet mulling over a mammoth sized black book they kept passing back & forth. Do you suppose they're people who just go around to suburban community meetings like that to drive other people plain NUTS?

MAUDIE & MATT Hammond must have made a mistake at their new Village realty spot w/that leftover sign from the couple's Lafayette office . . . they've put it up wrong!! It still looks best back in Lafayette where all the signs just blaze away in frantic disarray.

ROSS & KNIGHT, it's rumored, are readying to raise the new sign high—something similar to SAFEWAY'S!!

Where is that sign-control committee the Chamber's been dillying about? Out dallying?

DRAMATEURS' Bruce Winkworth who, come to think of it, has the same bearing, was making like Abe w/a Lincoln's Birthday reading over Concord's station KWUN . . . Charlotte Chapple's Hermione Gingold hairdo in GiGi is her second choice. The first one was a black wig she fashioned to make herself look "more Spanish", but her own hair insisted on upstaging the wig. Which went.

HOLIDAY & Hookey: Last Tuesday's downpour didn't keep ALL the kids inside: At Rheem Bowl, Woody Merrill, Vic Buffalow, Ron Gibson, Laurie Spongeberg were some of the youngsters having a bowl!

Steve Clyatt, one of the helpers out w/Teacher Don Jesse rounding up props for the school Pine Grove play coming up in March . . . Chris Powell & a friend riding horseback along Glorietta w/Chris's goat & dog keeping them company. Quite a crew!

What's in Miramonte's Test Score

Afternoon section of the Miramonte Parents' Club will meet Monday at 12:45 p.m. in the faculty dining room. The program is the first of a two-part series on "What's the Score—and What Does It Mean?" dealing with the Miramonte Testing Program.

Parents will be invited to try a few sample questions from some of the tests. The counseling staff will discuss and explain the various tests given to Miramonte students.

March 18 will be a follow-up meeting concerning individual evaluation of students' test scores.

Parents planning to attend the March meeting should sign up for their student's test record at the February meeting, or by calling Mrs. John Green, 254-0586, or Mrs. Henry Anderson, 376-4278 before the March 1 deadline.

NIGHT-TIME scene is brilliantly depicted here as hundreds of men and millions of dollars worth of equipment struggle to complete huge Briones Dam near Orinda. Illuminated areas in photograph show headlight tracks of giant earth movers as they cross the dam's surface.

Pakistanian Taxi Horn Heard Through the Land

What has a Pakistanian taxi-horn, three wheels, and is red all over?

Only those mid-county residents who attended the opening day of Broadway Shopping Center's Oriental Celebration in Walnut Creek yesterday can solve this riddle, according to Broadway Merchants Association member George Webster.

The object, of course, is a motorized ricksha.

"And if you can't believe it, come to Broadway and take a ride in it," Webster, manager of Grodins Men's Clothing store said yesterday.

YESTERDAY the little red ricksha buzzed about Broadway picking up customers at their cars and transporting them to their favorite stores, Webster reported.

The free rides continue today and tomorrow as a part of the center's three-day celebration.

Yesterday The Sun observed the three-wheeler in action and talked with driver Tony Kent of San Francisco Rickshas, Incorporated.

"The ricksha is actually a motorized pedicab," Kent said, indicating the well-muffled English motorcycle engine.

"ORDINARILY, and here in Broadway, the ricksha has a top speed of about 30 mph," Kent reported.

In order to bring the machine from San Francisco, however, the driver removed a governing device and traveled via freeway at about 45 mph.

"Trailed by a fascinated crowd of motorists," he added.

Among those who have occupied the two leather upholstered seats of the vehicle: Jayne Mansfield and San Francisco Mayor George Christopher.

DVC Mardi Gras

A mardi gras will be held by Diablo Valley College students tomorrow night, 8 p.m. to 1 a.m., in the college's Diablo Room.

The dance is sponsored by Alpha Sigma Gamma, college honor society.

The couples-only dance will be attended in fancy dress or costume.

Proceeds from the event will benefit the three philanthropy projects for the year.

These are microscopes for the science departments at Orinda's intermediate schools, American Field Service, Orinda branch; and the Salk Institute Building Fund, according to Mrs. Jack Cash, philanthropy chairman.

Mrs. Richard Paltenghi is ways and means chairman for the event with Mrs. Joseph Zablocki assisting.

Flood Damage Loans Offered

Aid for storm-struck Contra Costans from the Small Business Administration is again available.

Due to rain storms late last month, the administration has designated this and four other counties as "disaster areas."

The same agency offered similar aid following the October storm.

Owners of homes and small businesses may apply for disaster loans to repair storm damages, the administration announced.

'Most Happy Fella' to Play One More Time

The Diablo Light Opera Company of Walnut Creek announced this week that its production of "Most Happy Fella," by Frank Loesser, will be repeated by popular demand for one night only, March 9, at Las Lomas High School.

The show played to somewhat curtailed audiences due to heavy fog which blanketed the area in late November and early December.

Unused tickets, purchased for the original run, will be accepted at the boxoffice.

In addition, tickets may be purchased from members of the company, at the 7 Arts Bookstore in Walnut Creek, or from the company, P. O. Box 1084 in Walnut Creek. As before, they will be priced at $2.00 for adults and $1.25 for students through age 16.

Worden Offers Travel Movies

Worden's Travel Services, Walnut Creek and Orinda, will sponsor a "travel night" at Mike Lynn's Orinda restaurant February 26, 8 p.m.

The "night" will feature prizes, films of Europe and Switzerland and representatives from TWA and the Swiss National Tourist Office.

Veteran Team Will Head Heart Sunday Drive Here

Leaders of the successful 1962 Heart Sunday drive in Orinda will again be at the helm to direct volunteers in the annual residential canvass for funds for the Contra Costa County Heart Association.

Mrs. J. H. Schwarck, 35 Via Hermosa, and Mrs. L. S. MacDonald, 133 Donna Maria Way, will serve as co-chairmen of the 1963 Heart Sunday drive to be conducted from February 24 through March 3.

"THIS YEAR the traditional one-day Heart Sunday drive will be extended to one week giving volunteers an opportunity to make their calls on neighbors at the most convenient time. This is especially helpful when we have nice weather on Heart Sunday and residents leave home for the day," Mrs. Schwarck said.

Mrs. Schwarck, a member of the board of directors of the county heart association, is in her seventh year as leader in the Heart Fund campaign.

She expressed the hope that the record amount of $4889 collected in 1962 would be increased this year.

"Results of past drives in Orinda have been gratifying, both from the standpoint of volunteer participation and contributions received. We are deeply grateful for past support and hope to surpass previous records this year," Mrs. Schwarck said.

MRS. MacDONALD is a veteran of three previous Heart Sunday drives.

The mother of three children, she cited the research program of the heart association as especially worthy of support since "knowledge gained will benefit all of us."

Mrs. MacDonald and her attorney husband are presidents of Del Rey Parents Club where the children, Susan, 11; Brian, 9, and David, 6, all attend.

Assisting Mrs. MacDonald as captains in the Heart Sunday effort are: Mesdames J. J. Dalton, E. F. Nielsen, Alfred Hopp, Dale Root, M. H. Kelley, B. Stokes, Charles White, V. Winkel, Robert Buis, R. M. Erving, J. F. Banker, George Hartzell, Worth Wagers, William Van Voorhis and Howard Reinheimer.

MRS. SCHWARCK'S captains include Mesdames Betty Brooks, Richard Brodrick, R. E. Hansen, James H. Anderson, C. C. Dewitt, Jr., R. P. Kendall, Warren Detloff, Carl Dudley, Harold Hawes, Harry Fledderman, S. K. Harmon, Milo Spaich, D. D. Dierkes and R. W. Leland.

An estimated 250 volunteers will participate in the residential drive, according to the chairmen.

Boosters Will Have Sports Awards Dinner

Miramonte Booster Club will hold their annual spring sports award dinner at Miramonte High School cafeteria March 7.

The father-and-son affair will honor the Matador basketball and wrestling teams. Awards will be presented to senior members of both squads.

Plans also include a prominent guest speaker, according to President Pat Patton. "All fathers of Miramonte students are invited," he said.

Hampton Park On Way Out?

The county is exploring the possibility of selling Hampton Park, north of Orinda, to East Bay Municipal Utility District, according to County Administrator Joseph P. McBrien.

McBrien revealed this possibility at a press conference February 4.

For years, Hampton Park has been used as a campsite by Boy Scouts.

A large part of the land will be inundated by Briones Reservoir, now under construction by EBMUD, according to McBrien.

Orinda Girls Are 'Alice' Winners

Two Orinda girls are preliminary winners in the "Alice in Wonderland" search by Children's Fairyland in Oakland.

Winners in the second preliminary contests at Rhodes, Oakland, recently, were: Betsy Harrison, 10, 22 Los Cascodas, and Cathy Lord, 10, 114 Meadow Lane.

Both girls appeared at Pepito's puppet show at Fairyland Saturday.

Winner will receive a complete wardrobe from Rhodes. She will also appear for a year as Alice in Fairyland.

TB Increase Reported Here

A five per cent increase in tuberculosis case rates in Contra Costa has been reported by the Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Some 125 persons, including 30 children, were discovered to have tuberculosis this year, according to county association executive director Edythe Connolly.

The director urged chest X-rays or tuberculin tests every year for all residents.

Mats Can't Win 'em All --But They Can Sure Try

By KAREN STAFFORD and JACKIE EDENHOLM

The Miramonte basketball team suffered quite a loss when it was defeated by the Don's team last Friday for one of the most important games of the season.

However, it seemed almost impossible that Acalanes would lose with the tremendous spirit and determination which they showed at the game! In spite of this setback, pushing us out of first place, the Mats came through to beat the Trojans Tuesday night at Del Valle . . . but just by the skin of their teeth!

Before the Acalanes game Sue Fernsten had a pot-luck dinner for the pom-pon girls and cheerleaders—from Acalanes, too. Everyone enjoyed the good food including such things as raviolis, pizza, salad and cupcakes.

After the game many Miramonteens could be seen at the end of Crestview Drive where there was somthing similar to an outdoor party. Some of those there were Clint DeWitt, Barb Brush, Bob Williams, Jackie Edenholm, Jim Lewis, Beth Shepherd, Fred Neighbor, "Moose," Larry Lahmann, Bill Cooper, Chris Voll, Larry Tower, Joan Dierickx, Mike Bartlet, Mary Hansen, Dave Lackey, Frann Obretch, Bob Miller, Carol Meyer, John Lackey and Charles Brock.

Joan Dirickx's house was the site of a slumber party for the pom-pon girls Friday night where, as usual, there was very little "slumbering" . . . BUT lots of talking, laughing, eating, and taking pictures until it was about 5:30 a.m. and time for some sleep. Then, some of the girls went to Fran Obretch's house where they made breakfast and talked and laughed some more! So ended the second slumber party for the pom-pon girls.

In the past weeks Peter, Paul and Mary have been enjoyed by Allison Stampley, who saw them at Davis, and Dale Reed who saw them perform in Berkeley.

Roxie Smith is now back in school after two weeks of pneumonia—WELCOME BACK, Roxie! For two more weeks though we will miss her cheering, as she has to take it easy to recover fully.

Tuesday night a party supposedly at Steve Greyhouse's shifted to Bob Williams' house for these couples . . . Bruce Nickerson and Allison Horn, Gary Rose and Byrnace Thraillkill, Clint Dewitt and Barb Brush, Larry Lahmann and his date from Pacific High, Bob Williams, and Phil Grant.

Highlight of the get-together was doing the "Big B" lead by Gary Rose who's gone crazy over the dance! Anyone wishing free lessons—you know who to ask! Clint was also having a great time celebrating his birthday—HAPPY BIRTHDAY, Clint! Especially playing with a salamander which he caught in the Williams' pool.

Friday morning at six o'clock nine mischievous Miramonte pom-pon girls and cheerleaders could be seen sneaking into the home of Karen Stafford. As Karen was pulled out of bed by her big toe the girls informed her that this "shanghai" was to celebrate her birthday. After picking up Chrissy Voll, who it seems, overslept, they took Karen to breakfast. Those "mischievous pom-pon girls and cheerleaders" were Sue Fernsten, Byrnace Thrailkill, Joan Dirckx, Carol Meyer, Alison Stampley, Fran Obrecht, Chrissy Voll and Mary Hansen.

Friday night after the Acalanes game, the Parents Club sponsored a dance in the school cafeteria. Just a few of those there were Chris Walstrom and Greg Legrand, Mary Bartlett and Steve Brush, Tevis Thompson and Ginger Ronald, Candy Jacobs and Greg Holmes, Gail St. John, Debbie Maynard, Rowena Sherman, Pam Ferguson, Chris Campbell, Mike Gilmore, Buzz Glasky and Barb Bagley.

Miramonte will have another trophy to add to its trophy case after defeating Acalanes at a wrestling meet held Saturday at Acalanes. We beat Acalanes 139-133. There were six first place wnniers: 98 lbs.—Dean French, 106 lbs.—Jim Turman, 136 lbs.—Rick Cannon, 130 lbs.—Steve Cantrill, 141 lbs.—Pete Kimball, and 157 lbs.—Dean Hilger.

Second place winners were Marty Loomis, Bob Abbott, and Norris Widener. All first and second place winners will now go to the North Coast Sectional at Capuchino High School. Congratulations, boys.

Saturday night Mark Rasmussen's new home was the scene of a party. Before the party Sheridan Stampley and Doug Lairman, and Sue Fernsten and Chip Smith went to see the Dramateurs in their play, "Gigi." Afterwards they joined Mark Rasmussen and Sue Hickcox, Alison Stampley and John Saxon, Becky Horne and Dave Partridge, and Nancy Baker and Rick Borden in Mark's home. We hear from those there that the Rasmussens' new home is quite beautiful.

Saturday night Doug Marsh, Mike Claussen, Rick Outman, Bill Easterly, Tom Doolittle and Craig Hidy drove to Berkeley to see a "haunted house." Craig Hidy was pretty frightened when he saw a flashlight, but the boys made it through the house without any casualties.

Well, tonight is the night of the Block M dance. Anyone may come, so grab a date and come!!

Economist to Give Lectures

Dr. Colin Clark, world-famed agricultural economist and demographer, will be a centennial year visiting professor of economics at Saint Mary's College during the spring semester.

Clark, director of the Institute for Research in Agricultural Economics, Oxford University England, will teach an undergraduate course in comparative economic growth and will give a series of six public lectures under the auspices of the college.

Last week Clark was one of the leading speakers at the annual Business and Industrial Executives Symposium at Saint Mary's which investigated the economic difficulties of the population expansion.

Four of Clark's public lectures will be held on the Saint Mary's campus: The Beneficial Consequences of Population Growth, February 28; The European Common Market, March 28; The Changing Nature of the Business Cycle, April 4; Suburban Spread and Downtown Decay, April 10.

They will be held in Oliver Hall beginning at 8:15 p.m. and will be open to the public without charge.

Fallout Shelter Stocking; Room for 68,000

By WALT WRIGHT

Some 17 public fallout shelters, enough to house only a fraction of Contra Costa's population, are being stocked with survival supplies.

A two week supply of enriched biscuit, canned water and medical and sanitation items will go to four buildings in the unincorporated area, two in Concord, two in Martinez, one in Pittsburg, seven in Richmond and one in Walnut Creek.

Even were all the buildings (32) which qualify as shelters stocked with emergency rations, however, the "bedroom" areas of the county would be caught sleeping — and exposed — in the event of nuclear attack.

"CONTRA COSTA is an excellent example of the importance of a request last week by Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara for $175 million to pay for fallout shelters primarily in suburban areas," William Ward Jr., told The Sun this week as the stocking began.

Ward, who has headquarters in Walnut Creek, is regional administrator for the state's Disaster Office in 14-county Region. Two.

Ward admitted that it was ironic that cities such as San Francisco and Berkeley, more likely to suffer blast and heat effects, had sufficient fallout shelter while outlying areas did not.

"THERE ARE enough potential shelter spaces in these cities to provide fallout protection for the entire population."

"But in suburbia, where protection from fallout is of great importance, there aren't enough large private or public buildings to house the 'bedroom' population," he added.

Only 68,000 could be sheltered here if all facilities were used, he said.

Regarding the County Disaster Office's current plan for evacuation in the event of probable attack, Ward said that "most people who know what they are talking about" will admit shelters have taken precedence over evacuation plans.

"We give the shelter program top priority for two reasons:

"FIRST, there is considerably less warning time, about 30 minutes, than previously, due to new methods of warhead delivery," he said.

"Second, we have found out more about the extensive distance fallout will travel at the mercy of the winds."

This does not mean that the evacuation technique is being abandoned, Ward indicated.

"If the President served notice to the nation that an attack were imminent, evacuation would be a valid technique," he explained.

"WE REALIZE, however, that you can't drive very far in only 30 minutes."

Of the 15 buildings which qualify as shelters but are not being stocked due to refusal by the owners or undetermined shelter licensing status, 11 are in the cities of Walnut Creek, Martinez and Richmond.

The owner of the one qualifying building in Antioch, which would shelter 102 persons, refused to sign a shelter license with officials there.

"The majority of the failures to sign are based on lack of storage space for survival supplies," Ward said.

"Where local governments have supported the program, cooperation has been excellent," he added.

IN ADDITION to buildings, 170 tunnels, caves and mines qualify as shelters. Such special facilities in this county would provide shelter for 25,400 persons, Ward said.

He did not indicate whether shelter licenses had been signed for these facilities or if they were being stocked.

(Ward admitted to San Francisco newspapers yesterday that requirements for survival supplies had been waived on tunnels in that city's downtown area. He also said that no baffles would be erected at mouths of the tunnels, which San Francisco observers called "illogical.")

ASKED HOW much good shelters would do here in the event a bomb were dropped within ten miles of Walnut Creek, as posited three years ago by then Vice-Mayor of Walnut Creek Douglas Page, Ward said he had been "unable to substantiate" any of Page's findings.

Page at that time cited the Holifield Committee report which designated Contra Costa County as a "critical target area."

Regarding the two-week time period set by officials in their stocking plans, Ward indicated that "this would take care of the fallout from strikes which might last several days."

"WE ARE talking in an area, of course, where some persons consider 48 hours a 'long war' if atomic weapons are used," he said.

What if the emerging population were to be used as hostages at the end of the period, Ward was asked.

"We would hope that certain things could be done in the interim period.

"Persons anticipating continuation of the war might be able to restock the shelters, emerging for brief periods to do so," he said.

DESPITE THE Holifield Committee report, Ward generally discounted the "critical target area" designation of the central and east county area.

"The enemy would logically strike our retaliatory facilities—Strategic Air Command bases and missile sites—none of which are in our immediate area," he said.

Designation of "safe" zones, such as the eastern part of Contra Costa so designated by county disaster officials, is "something like striking an average," Ward pointed out.

The mid-county area, he said, was thus designated a danger zone.

"IT IS DIFFICULT to foresee what targets might actually be hit; we figure target locations with various probability factors and come up with the 'most probable' safe and danger zones," he said.

In addition to the supplies now being received in Contra Costa from stockpiles at Oakland Naval Supply Center, a special, distinctive yellow and black sign is being placed on each building where shelter space has been negotiated.

Plans, Ward said, call for 235 million shelter spaces by 1967 to protect the entire population from fallout.

The figure takes into consideration population increases and additional shelter spaces needed as a result of population concentrations at different times in industrial areas, he said.

To meet federal standards, the shelters must provide 40 times less exposure to radiation from fallout than would be received by an unsheltered person.

Heliport Here Within 9 Months; SFO Looks for Mid-County Site

ACCEPTING Merit Award (second place) for community relations and newspaper promotions from Governor Brown at CNPA gathering is George Colburn, associate editor of The Sun Newspapers.

BEST EDITORIAL PAGE — Herman Silverman, editor-publisher of The Sun Newspapers, accepts award from Governor Brown at CNPA convention last week end in San Francisco.

Jet Whirlybirds Will Depart at Hourly Intervals

Briefcase in hand, the hurried executive boards the SFO jet-powered helicopter in Walnut Creek.

Some 12 minutes later, he is set down only a few feet away from his jet flight to New York, Chicago, the Orient . . .

No scene from a far-distant Utopia, the helicopter flight to the Bay Area's major airports will become a reality within six to nine months.

So says M. F. Bagan, president of SFO Helicopter Airlines, who talked with The Sun yesterday about his firm's plane for the mid-county area.

"WE PLAN flights every 40 minutes from the central county area aboard 10-passenger Sikorsky S-62s," Bagan said.

Location of the first heliport for mid-county travelers has not yet been established, Bagan said.

"We have considered Buchanan Field, which has some attractions," he confided.

Walnut Creek and Lafayette are also definite possibilities.

Bagan denied reports that the "right spot" couldn't be found in Walnut Creek due to simple lack of land.

"We are about to conduct passenger surveys of the area which will be the biggest factor in location," he said.

"WERE THE surveys to indicate Walnut Creek, the land could be found," he assured The Sun.

The heliport would be a small scale airline terminal, fully manned almost 20 hours a day, with waiting room facilities.

A restaurant development next to the 'port was "possible," Bagan said. "We also like to have a motel nearby," he added.

THE FIRM announced purchase of a three-ship 'copter fleet from Sikorsky Aircraft Company Wednesday. Ships such as these, which cost SFO some $700,000, would serve Contra Costans until 1964.

"We plan delivery of 28-passenger models at that time," Bagan said. The '64 models could provide service between Walnut Creek and Oakland, for example, in only 12 minutes.

In addition to passenger service, SFO would carry mid-county air mail to waiting planes, guaranteeing one-day service between Lafayette and New York City.

The firm became the Bay Area's first helicopter air mail service in December last year.

SFO presently operates 80 scheduled flights daily between San Francisco International Airport, Oakland Airport, downtown Oakland and Berkeley.

These 10-passenger amphibious, jet-powered transports connect with all airline flights at the San Francisco Airport for direct transfer to airline points throughout the world.

50-MILE WALK MAP

'Bunion March' Starts from Laf. Tomorrow

Okay, all you hardy souls of Lafayette, Orinda, Walnut Creek and Pleasant Hill.

It's time to take a walk.

Fifty miles!

DEPARTURE TIME is 6 a.m. tomorrow from The Sun's offices in Lafayette.

The President says walk — so we walk.

Equip yourself with durable shoes, plenty of socks, figs, fruit, candy bars, canteens of water, surgical tape, sweaters, hats and muscular power.

The expedition (at least the first phase of it) will be led by three hardy souls of The Sun's news staff.

On the other hand they may bring up the rear.

Honestly, they don't care who leads the march.

But we walk!

GLANCE AT the 50-mile walk map printed in today's edition of The Sun.

See. It doesn't look like much, does it?

From The Sun's offices, we head down Moraga Road, wind back across the freeway into Orinda. Then the route follows eastward to Moraga into Walnut Creek, up to Pacheco, around and through Pleasant Hill and back to Lafayette.

Let's show the outside world the sterling qualities of everyone in the Great Central Contra Costa County area.

Tonight, before going to bed, set the alarm clock.

Then, tomorrow, at 6 a.m., you'll experience one of the great joys of life.

The great Bunion March is on.

Hup, two, three, four — hup, two, three, four—

Pierre Fails Us-- 'Hike' Goes On

Pierre has fouled us up!

We're not mad, just a bit perturbed that a "brother" would do such a thing.

We're talking about Pierre Salinger, the President's press secretary, of course.

Like the rest of the nation, some editorial staff members of The Sun want to show that they can do a simple thing like walk 50 miles.

Also, there is a chronic joke about newspapermen and their habits. This could be remedied by a little walk around the central county, staff members felt.

However, it was with alarm that we read of warnings against such a long walk for people not used to a strenuous routine.

And so, three male members of The Sun's editorial department decided to do just a little better than "brother" Pierre.

Salinger's closeness to the President makes him the natural "target" for newspapermen and their particular physical fitness program.

His place on the frontier makes him a "kin" to any newspaperman.

However, Pierre backed down.

George Colburn, associate editor; Walt Wright and Terry Hansen, news editors, were alarmed.

They all figured Pierre might last a couple miles, but no more. And they figured it would be an easy figure mark to top—under the 20-hour limit.

Ever since Salinger's dramatic announcement, Colburn has been insisting he has a sore back—"just like JFK."

Wright and Hansen claim there is much work to be done Saturday—because The Sun will come out a day earlier next week due to Washington holiday.

But, the cards have been stacked against them.

Richard Danker, the county's assistant traffic engineer, laid out the route this week.

There wasn't much concern at the time. The three newspapermen were counting on Pierre to come through for them.

Now the route is viewed closely by the disbelieving trio.

Other members of the editorial staff are busy making preparation for the trek Saturday.

It is supposed to begin at 6 a.m., and many are wagering it will end before noon.

The CHP, ambulance services, private physicians and hospitals have been alerted as a precaution.

The "smart money" around the office is picking Colburn to outlast the other two — "if his back is OK."

The only non-smoker in the group, Colburn weighs close to 200 pounds — a good deal more than he tilted the scales at a year ago.

He says it's natural to add weight along with years.

Wright is the smallest of the group, but he's a good match for Hansen in the smoking department if not in weight.

Wright claims he hasn't walked around the block since he passed his driving test.

Although close-mouthed about his physical condition, Hansen always puffs into the office after walking to the corner for lunch.

The "smart money" says none of them will ever make the whole trip.

No New Filers For HS Dist.

Two incumbents still remain as the only persons to file for two seats that must be filled at the April 16 election on the Acalanes Union High School District's board of trustees.

The deadline for filing time is March 1 with the county superintendent of schools of Martinez.

The incumbents seeking reelection are Dr. Ralph C. Hall, 72 Davis Road, Orinda, and Will C. Hall, 1363 Reliez Valley Road, Lafayette.

Dr. Hall has been on the board since 1947 and the other incumbent has served since 1956.

Persons, not already registered, must do so by next Thursday if they are to cast ballots at the election. The county clerk's office in Martinez accepts the registrations.

The Sun Wins Top Editorial Award

"Best Editorial Page" competition for weekly newspapers in California was won by The Sun, it was announced last week.

The citation was presented to Herman Silverman, Sun editor-publisher, Saturday at the 75th annual convention of the California Newspaper Publishers Association.

The Sun was the only Contra Costa County newspaper, weekly or daily, to take a first place award.

A second place or "Merit Award" for best community relations and newspaper promotions was also presented to The Sun.

JUDGES picked from the CNPA membership gave The Sun 14 of a possible 15 points in the final judging of editorial pages.

The entries in the category were individually screened by the three judges with the five scoring highest subjected to a second judging.

The three points that made up the rating were: 1) Appearance and makeup. 2) Selection of material. 3) Local interest.

A sliding scale of from one to five points was given for each category.

The Santa Clara Journal received the Merit Award in the competition.

IN THE newspaper promotion category, the judges commented that The Sun "enters into all phases of community life."

Included in this category are The Sun's "Candidates Night," "Music Night," "Travel Night," a community swim meet, cosponsored by The Sun and the Lafayette Youth Association, a rifle safety class for youngsters, a shoplifting clinic and a seminar for publicity chairmen.

The King City Rustler took first place in this category.

For the fifth straight year Governor Brown presented the citations to publishers of award-winning newspapers.

The three-day convention was held at the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco.

Almost 1000 CNPA members and college delegates attended.

All Dug Out and No Place to Go?

A brand new tunnel through traffic-choked Caldecott — with no roads leading to it?

State engineers don't think it will happen, but the frustrating situation is possible.

Contractors working on the tunnel last week predicted completion of their job by November of this year.

But the Orinda approach, a complex project of widening existing pavement and building the actual lanes to the tunnel, won't be completed until spring of 1964, according to Resident Engineer Fred Campbell.

"WE DOUBT very much that the tunnel will be completed as early as contractors estimate," Division of Highways spokesman Jack Grasberger told The Sun yesterday.

"Even with their additional crews, we don't expect tunnel completion until May or June next year," he said.

Clyde Turner, project manager for the contractors, told The Sun crews were being doubled on the job, and work progressing from both ends toward the middle.

The work is being done in a joint contract by Connolly, Grafe, Brayer and Harney.

THREE SHIFTS are working round the clock to complete the job by November, Turner said.

"We'll make it by our original contract completion date in November," he predicted.

Grasberger didn't seem worried about the outcome.

"They are still six months behind, and we don't expect them to catch up."

The various contracts were let with an eye toward completion at about the same time.

Biggest delays on the tunnel have been attributed to labor strikes last year, while storms and bad weather have plagued the freeway work on the Orinda side.

Campbell, on the site of the freeway project, predicted completion of the two jobs within a month or so of each other.

IN ADDITION, Campbell said, more contracts remain to be let to install lane control devices which will shunt the traffic one way through two bores at rush hours.

"This will involve overhead neon signs and possibly a positive gate control lowered diagonally across the lanes," he said.

The engineer also revealed plans for refurbishing the interior of the existing bores as soon as Caldecott No. Three goes into operation.

Lindsey Asks For Y Advisors

VIRGIN VALLEY of the 2000-acre Dollar Ranch may soon be occupied with a 9 or 18-hole golf course planned for the valley floor. On gently sloping ground 10,000 living units will be constructed by 1966. Sun photo by Bob Rush

A Visit to WC's Own Shangri La

A sneak preview into the Walnut Creek Leisure World—a retirement community of 18,000 population proposed for the 2200-acre Dollar Ranch—was granted recently to two reporters and one lawyer, the only persons who showed up at a Planning Commission study meeting on the immense proposal.

Before a huge multi - colored map spread across the front of the Walnut Creek Council chambers, architects Eugene Wedell and Charles Warren Callister told the commission of their plans.

The "world," it was revealed, will be as inaccessible as Shangri-La, except to residents and their invited guests. Surrounded by natural barriers, the valley of the ranch will be accessible only by roads through guarded gates.

INSIDE, a central parkway of twin one-way roads will lead the visitor along Tice Valley Creek and through a nine-hole (or perhaps 18-hole) golf course on the valley floor.

In addition to providing recreation, the golf course will serve as a natural flood basin in the event of another 100-year storm, Wedell said.

On gently sloping land to either side of the floor of the valley will be eight individual villages of about 1250 two-bedroom units each.

Some of the units may have three bedrooms, and a very few one-bedroom units will be provided, present plans indicate.

"This is all contingent upon the reaction to the first villages built," Callister said. He indicated that the Rossmoor Corporation, developers of the project, will be making many detail decisions during the course of construction.

IN EACH VILLAGE, no resident will live more than 300 feet from virgin land, Wedell said. Only about half of the entire ranch is being developed, with the actual residence units placed on about 650 acres of developable land.

Most of the multiple units will be one-story buildings, clustered around park-like courts in each village.

The courts, and, surprisingly enough, the laundry areas, will provide for the senior citizens' primary activity: companionship. Recent studies at Syracuse, Callister said, show the laundry to be an extremely important meeting place.

Residents of the world will move from vilage to village via an internal bus service, electric carts, automobiles, and on foot and bridle paths.

INADDITION to visiting neighbors in nearby villages, Leisure Worldians will be going to and from:

Swimming pools, club houses, athletic courts, putting greens and a driving range in and around the golf course area.

Stables and riding and hiking trails which will tie in with state and county park systems.

Eight large clubhouses with meeting rooms, craft rooms, kitchens and lounges.

A 20-acre shopping center, to be located near the Del Valle High School site and open for public as well as "world" patronage.

A motel where residents' guests will be lodged.

Professional offices in the Tice Valley Boulevard area north of Del Valle, where residents may maintain their own offices.

Ten or more churches of varying denominations.

Two community centers with small shops and offices.

A library and museum in the old Dollar mansion.

MOVING THROUGH the valley, Callister said, the resident or visitor will be presented with a continual "sequence of surprise" made up of natural views.

Physical Fitness, Anyone?

WEATHER PERMITTING, in response to JFK's call for physical fitness, Old Mother, girl columnist, is going to bicycle from home to the office this week.

Starting from our Devin Drive domicile, I'll peddle all the way to The Sun office on Oak Hill, Lafayette. The picturesque route along Moraga Road seems mostly downhill—by station wagon. Approximately five miles long, the commute takes five minutes by car.

The redhead is all for the project. Says he: "My only regret is that I have but one wife to give to my country."

HASH A TU AYA Camp Fire Girls gave their best sweethearts, their dads, a Valentine dinner last evening at the Harold Bates' in Orchard Dell. On the menu was spaghetti, French bread, tossed salad and home-baked cakes. Hash A Tu Ayas participating were Penny Aveson, Laurie Bates, Sheryl Biondi, Joanne Burr, Carolyn Sharpe, Linda Shields, Nanci Wiemkin, Donna Wool, Lisa Peterson, Regina Lee and Laurie Marsh.

COME RAIN, SHINE. Sunny Monday, pretty Louise Milford pushed baby Adam Long in buggy to Rheem Center. Many Moragans rushed outdoors to breathe the promising spring air. Then came Tuesday's avalanche . . . very fine weather for arks.

SATURDAY AT SPENGERS, the rain didn't dampen the spirits of Moraga Lions, their wives and guests, who turned out in force for the club's dinner party. Next day, the Berkeley bistro made the Chronicle for being flooded.

Despite the bad weather nine units of the Rheem Terrace Town (TOWN?!) House Apartments were sold, last we heard. Much interest is being shown in the carefree condominium by gardeners who are weary just looking at the weeks flourishing in the rain.

HELP MAY BE on the way for the county's "bad" girls. SOMETHING BIG is cooking in Walnut Creek. All the airplane trips Bill Francis, Walnut Creek's Chamber of Commerce manager is making and all those long distance calls must add up to something besides bills.

But the city's paid booster won't talk 'til everything is signed and sealed. THEN he promises to spill all to the press — along with liquid refreshments — in the near future.

Only clues: The announcement will involve a local "breakthrough" and will involve Ygnacio Valley property.

INDECENT EXPOSURE of cans will result in citations in Pleasant Hill, according to the refuse ordinance currently being negotiated. It will soon be unlawful to put them out before 4 p.m. of the day before collection or to leave them out after 8:30 p.m. of the day the garbage man comes.

RETIRED MEMBERS of the armed services have a friend in Washington in Senator Clair Engle. Engle is disturbed about the "considerable differences in pay of retired military people, depending upon what year they happened to retire."

This week Senator Engle introduced a bill permitting military personnel who retired before the Military Pay Act of 1958 to base their retired pay upon the higher rates provided by the '58 Act.

UNBIASED OPINION about the California Playhouse production of "Music Man" playing weekends at their little theater on Foothill Boulevard in Oakland came to us in a letter this week. It says, in part:

JUST THREE SEATS AWAY from the President sat Congressman John Baldwin last week. The occasion for such close proximity was the Eleventh Annual Presidential Prayer Breakfast, and our representative is this year's president of the House Prayer Breakfast Group.

Only ones who got closer to the president, according to Congressman Baldwin, were Vice President Johnson and Dr. Billy Graham.

MEANWHILE, BACK in the county, our supervisors, while not agin' religion, are certainly opposed to paying for it. They went on record approving a program to encourage visits by clergymen to persons in county institutions. And they agreed that the county should be prepared at all times to call clergymen upon the request of patients and their relatives.

But as for the hiring of a chaplain or paying for a chaplaincy program—no!

Larger Home is Coming For Religious 'Family'

By BERNICE SCHARLACH

"Like most families in Suburbia, our first house just isn't big enough',' said Rabbi David Robins, explaining Temple Isaiah's move to larger quarters.

The rabbis congregation in Lafayette, formerly called the Contra Costa Jewish Community Center, is the sole religious facility serving Jewish families in the mid-county area east of the tunnel through Concord.

Seated in his study in the present building, Rabbi Robins can watch the progress of the big "cats' as they level off a knoll preparing the site for the new house of worship.

"AND AS A family matures, what happens? It needs greater avenues of expression — more facilities, more activities," he continued.

"Our purpose in forming 12 years ago was to provide once-a-week religious school services four our children and some social activities for the women.

"Originally a community center, we progressed to a temple-center and secured the services of a full-time rabbi several years ago. Now, for purposes of easier identification, we have shortened our name to Temple Isaiah," he explained.

Activities at Temple Isaiah, which is affiliated with the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, now include a teen club; a choral group under the direction of Cantor Henri Goldberg, musical director of the temple; a men's club, the League of Jewish Women, sisterhood of the temple, and various discussion, social action and Jewish education committees.

RABBI ROBINS, who is a native San Franciscan, has a background which well-prepared him to assume the leadership of the young congregation. Before studying for the clergy, he was a social worker and the director of the Jewish Community Center in Richmond.

He has been active in the Fair Play Council in this area, and was its president last year.

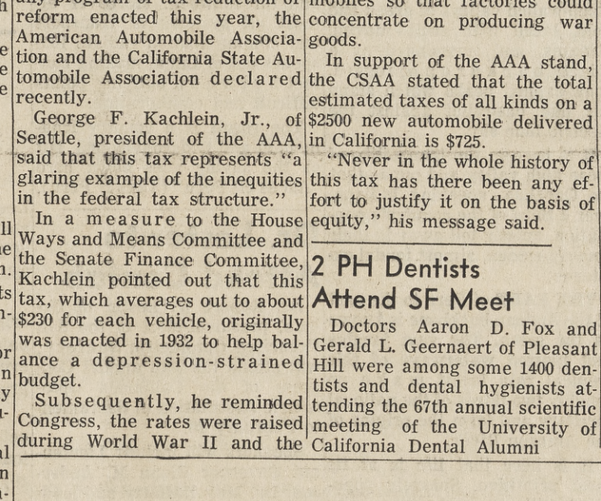
A vigorous man in his mid-thirties, he waged a successful personal war against cancer. Although it cost him most of his right arm, the loss hasn't slowed down appreciably his athletic abilities or his zest for whipping through a jammed-packed schedule.

"When we have the new building, we shall be able to plan more activities in this old one," he said. "I'm looking forward to a day camp in the summer that will be open to the whole area."

One of the rabbi's most successful activities is the Sunday morning adult discussion group which takes place during Sunday school hours.

"PARENTS come from such far-flung areas as Concord, Martinez, Pittsburg and San Ramon. They have time on their hands until classes are over. So we instituted a Bagels-and Coffee discussion group. The teen club makes the coffee and serves the refreshments. Proceeds go toward their activities," he said.

Originally founded by 50 member families, the present congregation has nearly 200 members, according to its president, Fred Katzburg of Pleasant Hill.



TAKING A BOW, the "Dramadames," reading group of Temple Isaiah's sisterhood, are shown at a recent performance of "Flower Drum Song." Included in their repertoire of the group are dramas and comedies in addition to musicals, which they present to other organizations in the area.

SISTERHOOD MEMBERS serve refreshments at the Oneg Shabbat, social hour which follows each Friday night worship service. Mrs. Sol Berg is currently sisterhood president.

Auto Tax Cut Asked by AAA

Elimination of the 10 per cent federal excise tax on passenger cars should have top priority in any program of tax reduction or reform enacted this year, the American Automobile Association and the California State Automobile Association declared recently.

George F. Kachlein, Jr., of Seattle, president of the AAA, said that this tax represents "a glaring example of the inequities in the federal tax structure."

In a measure to the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee, Kachlein pointed out that this tax, which averages out to about $230 for each vehicle, originally was enacted in 1932 to help balance a depression-strained budget.

Subsequently, he reminded Congress, the rates were raised during World War II and the Korean conflict for the dual purpose of raising revenue and discouraging expenditure for automobiles so that factories could concentrate on producing war goods.

In support of the AAA stand, the CSAA stated that the total estimated taxes of all kinds on a $2500 new automobile delivered in California is $725.

"Never in the whole history of this tax has there been any effort to justify it on the basis of equity," his message said.

HIS CATTLE GREW FAT ON YOUR FRONT LAWN

Citizens' new office at Pleasant Hill—and very likely your home—stands on land once granted to Don Salvio Pacheco. Don Salvio was the first owner of Pleasant Hill . . . and Pacheco, Port Chicago, Clyde, Clayton, part of Walnut Creek and all the land in between. In 1869 this generous aristocrat donated part of his Rancho del Diablo to the flood-stricken residents of Pacheco, whose new community became Concord. When this village was only 16 years old, Citizens opened its first small office in San Francisco. Since then, thousands of families have bought or built homes on Don Salvio's land—many through Citizens' help. Now, Citizens has opened a new office in Pleasant Hill to make available a convenient, profitable place to put your savings.

Won't you stop in soon? We would like to meet you and present you with a free copy of Sunset's idea-filled booklet "Patio Fun" and a street and highway map of central Contra Costa.

Peace Corpsman's Report from Peru

Ed. Note: Bob Roberts of 739 Los Palos Drive, Lafayette, is one of two men from this area now on duty with the Peace Corps.

The other is Joseph "Bob" Rupley of 106 Camino Don Miguel Road, Orinda.

Roberts, 25, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Roberts. His father owns a color printing production plant in Berkeley.

The Lafayette man, gone since September, has sent his first report to the community, reprinted by The Sun:

Editor:

God, the Peace Corps, and the Peruvian Postal System willing, this will be the first of a series of reports, personal opinions, and general palaver from the Latin American Scene.

A fitting genesis for all such endeavors is to give a general overview, a collection of unassailable generalizations, as it were, to acquaint the reader with the general environment.

This report will be no exception.

MY ASSIGNMENT is in Peru. A quick glance at any globe, atlas, or geography book will show Peru to be located on the western rump of the South American continent, some few degrees south of the Equator. The geographic location coupled with extraordinarily diverse topography make this land a most fascinating study in contrasts. Moreover, the physical structure in no small way contributes to the country's natural wealth and to its problems.

Peru, like ancient Gaul, is divided by nature.

On the Pacific Coast a narrow band of desert stretches the length of the country, some 1400 miles. This desert is as dry and as enchanting as Death Valley. It is broken only by some 60 rivers which flow, like verdant fingers, from the Andes to the sea.

In the narrow, fertile valleys which border these rivers Peru's chief export commodities, cotton and sugar are churned out by a plantation system of agriculture. Lima, the capital, population and nerve center of all the country, is located in one of these valleys.

PARALLELING AND lording over this first zone are the three main ranges of the Andes which traverse the country from north to south. From the coast, the panorama they provide is much akin to the view of our own Sierras as seen from the Nevada side.

From the desolate desert floor the towering mountains jut straight up, seeming invaders of the sky. Once up in these mountains the physical vista is even more impressive.

I have had the good fortune to be assigned to the Callejon de Huaylas, and Andean valley located at 10,000 feet. The Callejon is a breathtaking fusion of steep-walled valleys of green and gold, laced with swift-moving streams, and surrounded by a mighty backdrop of rugged, snow-capped peaks which stand out like bas-relief against the electric blue sky.

It is here in the tranquility of these high valley and punas that the Quechua-speaking Indians, over a third of the country's population, quietly toil away in their poverty-ridden, almost feudal existence.

THE PART of Peru to the east of the Andean backbone is known as the selva. The vast jungles and twisted waterways of this tropical rain forest make up roughly two-thirds of the national territory and form the origins of the Amazon River.

It is here that life is at its most primitive. Sparsely populated villages and towns are connected with the outside world only by plane and river boat.

This then, very roughly, is the physical setting. From it the country derives the advantage of balanced natural endowment. From the coast come sugar, cotton, petroleum, guano, and fish products.

THE ANDEAN valleys produce food crops such as potatoes, corn and cereals; livestock, wools and hides; and such minerals as lead, copper and zinc. Coffee, exotic fruits, rubber, vanilla and various types of hard woods are extracted from the selva. The cornucopia on the national coat of arms is certainly justified.

But the owner of this bountiful physical structure is also the bearer of serious problems for Peru is still an underdeveloped country.

The average income per capita is under $100.00 and scarcely represents the cleavage between the small wealthy minority and bulk of the country's 10 million inhabitants.

AT THE heart of this country's economic development problem lies the curse of this awesome physical environment, in the form of the barrier it provides for communications and integration. Paved roads, with the exception the Pan American Highway and railroads, are very few and far between. Moreover almost all systems of transport and communication radiate like spokes out of Lima, making contact between outlying points difficult and cumbersome.

The result is a country fragmented and underdeveloped, but as the saying goes down here "Asi es ell Peru" (Thus is Peru).

Gifted Child Program Still a Question Mark

By TERRY HANSEN

Memo to fathers and mothers:

Don't worry if you're not blessed with a Gifted Child.

He has his problems, too.

The Lafayette School District is still uncertain as to what kind of program should be devised specifically for the boy or girl with extreme IQ.

And the same situation could prevail in Orinda.

B. W. Moore, president of the Lafayette district board, put it quite aptly when near the end of a two-hour-long talk session last week about the Gifted Child program here, he said:

"WE MADE the decision several years ago (four, to be exact) to start up this program. Now we're caught smack in the middle."

His compatriot, J. Richard Johnston added that he, too, had "mixed feelings" about the program's structure in Lafayette and that it must be given much deeper thought—specifically so that the classroom teacher has a complete understanding of what the district is trying to accomplish.

And Don Williams, assistant superintendent of educational services, had to admit, "We're talking about a program that we don't know much about."

The recent seminar on the Gifted Child program here featured the appearance of several teachers directly concerned with imparting instruction to high IQ children.

THE GIFTED CHILD program, which has proved a vexing situation to many other school districts in addition to Lafayette, was started there, four years ago. The first selectees were fifth graders. A class of them, 25 to 30 in all, were selected for the grade. Today 30 children from each of the fifth and sixth grade levels comprise Gifted Child classes. When a youngster reaches the seventh grade, he leaves the program and returns to regular seventh grade study, though still given special instruction. The same is true with the eighth grader.

A picture of a Gifted Child's actions came to light recently at a board meeting with the teachers doing most of the talking.

"He's certainly no stereotyped person," David Searle, sixth grade teacher at Merriwood School, told the board members.

"SOME ARE intellectually gifted, but not creative.

"The type of work you'll get will be varied. Some will be good. Some will be bad. At times, you wonder how such a child can be so mature. The next moment he'll be as regular as any other child in the entire grade.

"Such a child's capacity is tremendous. He has quick insight and the thoroughness he'll use to master every little detail is devastating. I'm shocked at times as to how much such children will sense, the way they get the more subtle points."

Other teachers agreed that some gifted children will sit "like bumps on the log" and display no sign of motivation at all. They simply have a high IQ, and that's all.

SOME SUCH children suffer a change of personalities. As one teacher recalled, "I had one girl who was so delighted at being accepted into the Gifted Child program that she wrote 'it's so good not to be a creep anymore'."

Another teacher said, "Some will get the feeling that they've arrived. There's a certain smugness about them."

Valdimar Johnson, seventh grade teacher at the M. H. Stanley School in Lafayette, said that he worries "constantly" about the two-thirds section of the gifted group that are unable to comprehend or do the work given them. "At times I'm not certain that we have a typically gifted group," he said.

Boardmember Johnston stressed the need for more seminars as to how well the Gifted Child program is going here, and that the teachers should meet frequently to exchange thoughts about the program as they see it.

IT WAS agreed by both boardmembers and teachers at the Lafayette meeting that the Gifted Child program is definitely in the embryonic stage and that a great deal of research is still necessary.

After the meeting, Dr. Francis Ebert, Lafayette superintendent of schools, told The Sun, "We are certainly aware that the way we are now handling the program is no final answer. The program seems to be going along quite satisfactorily in the fifth and sixth grades, but we're not at all sure how it's doing in the seventh and eighth grades.

"We need to know exactly what is a gifted child. The intellectual child is not always creative, and the creative youngster is not always intellectual.

"Much more research is necessary in this field. In time we might be able to make a complete and thorough evaluation of this program."

Hats Off To...

Gloria Brown, whose Oils are going places . . .

MONOGRAM a paintbrush, please, for Gloria (Mrs. Frank Lee) Brown, Orinda artist, whose most recent honor was bestowed by the Corcoran Gallery in Washington, D.C. where one of her abstract oils titled "Garden No. 1" is on view during the 28th Biennial of American Contemporary Paintings.

THESE STATISTICS make it more interesting: From 4000 original color-slide entries, 108 were notified to "crate up" their painting to vie for the final vote. From that select group, an even more selective 27 paintings were finally chosen for the prestige exhibit.

Gloria has always loved painting but didn't enter the competitive or participating field until a few years ago when her four girls (Hilary, 20, Meredith, 17, Jennifer, 14 (& Stephanie, 10) were off to a "good growing start."

THE PRETTY vivacious lady then found her paintings were due for a "demand performance" and her works have been exhibited at the San Francisco Women's Artists' Show where she won the Vera Adams Davis Memorial prize for oil, the Hollis Gallery, S.F., where she had a one-woman show last fall, the Uptown Gallery in New Orleans, the New Jersey Art League of Long Island, the Richmond Art Center and the S.F. Art Association. Locally, one of her paintings is on view at the Valley Art Center in the current show on "new techniques."

SUBTLETY seems to be this painting lady's particular technique with a lyrical, almost poetic quality to the full-palette color range her eye and brush produce on pulsating canvases that show certain fluctuations of space and form. Go see for yourself at Valley Art Center or watch for the next time her paintings are hung at Orinda Library by the Orinda Art Center of which she is a favorite long-time member.

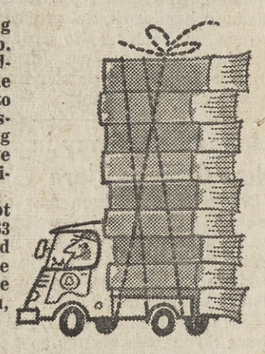
WHAT'S DOING
Howard Greenhalgh, your Telephone Manager in Orinda

"PINHEADS"—that's what telephone people call these little diodes, first cousins to the transistor. And no wonder, it would take more than 1,000 of them to fill a thimble! Designed by Bell Telephone Laboratories, each pinhead's a little sandwich of specially treated silicon wafers with glass in the middle. It's heat-bonded, plated with nickel and gold, and comes out a whopping 35-thousandths of an inch in diameter by 15-thousandths thick.
But looks are deceiving. Pinheads do a big job as super-sensitive "gates", or switches, for controlling current flow in electronic circuitry. They're used in computers for missile and space projects, and will ultimately be used in the high-speed electronic telephone switching systems of tomorrow.
From bulldozers to bridal gowns to beekeepers . . . whatever you may need, if there's someone in town who sells or serves, you'll find them fast in the Yellow Pages of your telephone book.
In fast-growing California, keeping phone books up-to-date is a big job. There are over 4,000,000 names, addresses and phone numbers in the white pages of some 60 books. Not to mention all the Yellow Pages. To assure accuracy, we check each listing six times before printing. We average a new phone book for a different California community each week.
May 12 is the last date we can accept yellow page advertising for the 1963 Contra Costa Directory. If you would like to advertise your business in the yellow pages, we can arrange to have one of our representatives call on you, call our business office, 935-9000.


A girl who is expecting a ring will always answer the phone.

What do gophers have to do with telephone service? Not much that's good. Sometimes they chew through buried phone cables and can interrupt service. Researchers have been testing for a gopher-proof cable cover, but the little animals aren't to be outwitted. One gopher, offered glass-fiber covered cable, promptly removed the glass yarn, lugged it home, and lined its nest with it.

Redistricting: 'Must' Decision

Redistricting of Contra Costa County's supervisorial districts will take place soon.

A recently-enforced court decision has required districts to be realigned according to population.

At the present time in Contra Costa County two supervisors represent 70 per cent of the county residents.

This situation will be resolved by redistricting—when it takes place.

Contra Costa supervisors will consider a plan of redistricting which has been recommended by a special committee on February 26.

THE FIVE supervisors have already taken sides in the matter and if there is a vote on the plan February 26, it will be defeated, 3-2.

Supervisors Mel Nielsen, Joe Silva and Edmund Linscheid are against "reapportionment" of the districts. Supervisors James Kenny and Tom Coll are in favor.

There seems to be no doubt that population figures warrant redistricting. It's apparent that the supervisors are concerned about their particular districts in this matter.

The plan to be considered by the supervisors will reduce the size of District I from 40 per cent to 24 per cent. This includes Richmond and El Cerrito areas.

Under the plan, District III would be reduced from 30 to 24 per cent.

THE OBVIOUS idea is to make the five districts as close to being "equal" in population as possible.

The heavily populated areas from El Sobrante to El Cerrito and Richmond would have two representatives under the proposal.

A supervisor would be taken away from the lightly populated eastern county area.

As far as realignment in the central county area is concerned, it appears that there won't be much change.

Supervisor Nielsen representing District II with a population of 53,000 and 13 per cent of the population would be switched to third district supervisor. He would represent 20 per cent of the population (81,000) from Walnut Creek, Alamo, Danville, Moraga, Lafayette, Orinda, Canyon and San Ramon.

SUPERVISOR COLL of District III now would become District IV representative.

He would represent 22 per cent of the population from Concord, Pleasant Hill and Martinez.

This proposal by the special committee still leaves the central county area with two representatives.

It also equalizes the population distribution.

However, the politicians' views of this matter might consider other factors.

But, regardless of what they say or want, redistricting or reapportionment is definitely going to take place.

From observations so far, there is nothing basically wrong with this plan to be considered February 26. In many ways it is very logical.

PT&T Problems: Answers Needed

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company has had plenty of free publicity lately. However, it's publicity the company would like to do without.

First it was the complaints about digit-dialing. Now it is the earnings of the company.

In both cases, PT&T has not wavered.

PHONE COMPANY officials say digit-dialing is the only means to take care of future telephone use demands. And now they say the "excessive earnings" charge is "grossly in error."

It has been claimed that the Los Angeles and San Francisco areas are paying higher phone rates than in other California areas.

A Public Utilities Commission official said the San Francisco-East Bay areas' 8.86 per cent rate of return to PT&T was considerably higher than other areas. The Los Angeles rate is second—8.47 per cent.

THE CITY ATTORNEY of Los Angeles has charged PT&T with making "unreasonable, excessive earnings."

It is important that the telephone company be allowed to earn enough money to do a good job for its users. It is a private firm.

As a public utility it should make a profit, of course. The PUC regulates its rate of profit as well as its services in the public interest, however.

However, PUC staff findings brought out last week say that PT&T was earning a 7.5 per cent return on its investment despite a PUC-imposed ceiling of 6.5 per cent.

The difference amounts to an overcharge of approximately $32 million, according to the PUC staff.

If PT&T is earning too much money per year—and many people apparently think so—the rates should be reduced.

IN LAST WEEK'S Sun, a story announced Pacific Gas and Electric's lower rates. PG&E rates are going down because of increased customer density.

The L. A. city attorney said telephone users in heavily populated Los Angeles and San Francisco are entitled to larger local calling zones and reduction in rates because of the high earnings of PT&T in metropolitan areas.

If the PG&E theory was followed through, he would be correct.

Also, if it's true that the Bay Area is paying more than other areas for phone service, we are entitled to reduced rates for this reason.

Another issue to be resolved by the PUC is the digit-dialing controversy.

The Sun hopes the answers in both matters are forthcoming soon.

Letters to The Editor

WALDIE REPLY

Dear Editor:

Your news column coverage of February 1 on my transit bill was excellent.

On the other hand, I am concerned about the editorial disapproval you have expressed on the same bill.

In order to clarify the measure, may I simply state the objective I had in mind? I wish to force the Bay Area Rapid Transit District to spend less money in San Francisco and more in Contra Costa County by hastening the construction of the "possible future line" to Antioch and Pittsburg.

This will not (1) destroy the district; (2) increase taxes elsewhere as the district argues. It will not have these adverse effects because the district will be required to extend the line in Contra Costa County with passage of my bill. They dare not permit the assessed valuation of the eastern end to be withdrawn.

Extension of this line is entirely consistent with the plans submitted the voters. You will recall those plans indicated a "dotted line" for Pittsburg-Antioch. I am suggesting that line will forever remain "dotted" if this "club" is not retained. We simply will not be able to compete with the demands for extension of service of our metropolitan partners.

The cost of this extension should be met two ways:

(1) Deletion of the station and facilities provided San Mateo County which is not even in the district.

(2) Reduction in the cost of the expensive facilities designed for San Francisco.

In short, I am saying in this bill, the Rapid Transit District is a reality—Contra Costa isn't receiving its share of the moneys to be spent—here is a suggested way to get more service to Contra Costa County.

Perhaps this should have been accomplished at the time the matter was before the board of supervisors. That it was not, does not mean the ball game is over.

Every argument the Bay Area Rapid Transit District raises against my bill is essentially an argument for San Francisco. Obviously, San Francisco will suffer if the line is required to be extended in Contra Costa County and financed from facilities planned for San Francisco.

As long as there is a chance to better the position of Contra Costa County in this, essentially, unequal partnership, it is my belief we should keep trying.

JEROME R. WALDIE

TRANSIT COMPLAINT

Your editorial on Transit and the Waldie bill is typical of the tainted reporting you ran during the prior election campaign.

Let's put your editorial to a few questions and answers:

1. You say that 60 per cent voted in favor of the transit tax—an overwhelming vote in any election.

The truth: Our county (and you do publish here) voted only 55 per cent—less than required. The truth: General obligation bonds ordinarily require a ⅔ majority as this one should have. The truth: The majority of the voters went to the polls ignorant of the cost to taxpayers. The truth: Mr. Nejeldy ruled prior to the election that pro and con arguments could appear with sample ballots—yet for some unknown reason this needed information did not appear.

2. You say that the transit district hopes to establish feeder lines (buses) into many outlying communities.

The truth: During the preelection debates it was pointed out that such feeder lines would add even more to the burdensome tax. In one of the last debates the transit people conveniently changed this approach by saying: "We propose that the people use the most convenient feeder line known—the private car."

3. You say it is unreasonable for the district to change its vastly complicated (a good word) far reaching plans—even the "luxuries"—centered in San Francisco are far too advanced — this point could have been made long before now.

The truth: Had you bothered to do a good job of reporting you would have heard of the luxuries in the San Francisco plan—they were discussed—and note, I do not put the word in quotes. The far-reaching plans are so primitive that it will take a $47-million-plus contract to see if they will work. There is nothing so permanent about them that they can't be revised. And it will be interesting to watch the rationalizing of the transit people as they make these changes as the plan (and if the plan) progresses.

Sure the Waldie bill is fair to non-serviced areas. After the election is the only time papers such as yours mentioned that such areas would not receive service. And don't forget there are better, less costly ways of solving the traffic problem. Los Angeles supervisors turned down a proposal based on revenue—not general obligation bonds.

I hope you are more factual in the future.

We Like It Here . . .

Let's take a walk around the block . . to Livermore?

By MARIE MONAHAN

There's nothing like a good walk to make you feel fit as a fiddle.

This is the message we are getting from the new New Frontier.

If you survive the walk, you're fit as a fiddle.

If you don't you're a potential cardiac case.

Around our hills, we've give it a good try. But after the sidewalks of New York, it ain't easy, brother.

The getting up hill is a simple feat of our huff & puff after another—like from the famous wolf who blew down the pig's house of hay.

We get winded going upwards. Going downwards, it's an unfortunate bit that Nature didn't equip legs with built-in brakes.

BREEZING downhill is a delight. Until the next day.

From your place on the sofa, you wonder whit hit you in the back.

The New Frontier would advise that we are out of commission. No material for the Peace Corps.

NOT even up to the famed 50-mile hike going the fad with hikers these days.

Back in our salad days in Manhattan, we could click off 50 blocks at a steady window-shopping pace. Right up Fifth Avenue where we made up for the slimming strut by ordering a chocolate soda at Howard Johnson's.

THEN a walk to the corner of 58th for the double-decker bus homeward.

Here, in the western wilds, no double chocolate awaits us at the end of the line. We are lucky if a sympathetic housewife invites us in for a cup of coffee.

No brandy-carrying St. Bernard comes to our rescue when we pant green to the ground. No chariot arrives to lift us off our swollen size nines.

WHAT GOES up must go down & vice versa, leaving us with no chocolate tempter, but simply a chance to sample nature's wonder . . . & the dubious friendliness of the neighborhood dogs.

It is wise when walking in the country to carry a stick or a limb. Not so much for the canines that come along, but for the sake of impression. Like being an old hand at the country walk.

It is a different bit than doing the sidewalk stint.

In the country, when you put one foot in front of the other, you are liable to trip over a rock. Or a snake. Or somebody's abandoned tricycle or garbage can lid.

What has driven me to walking is too much driving.

Most moms suffer the same malaise—too much chaufferitis behind the driving wheel.

GET OUT & walk, I tell the children!

If you can't get there on your own steam, forget it!

Then comes the storm . . . & the paper route must go through.

Or the hair will get mussed on the way to the dance.

Or they'll be late for the basketball game . . . & all those kids they promised to pick up!

I LOVE the country but that's when I miss sidewalks & signals, policemen & corner bus stops!

However unfit I may be, I'm taking up walking. It may wear out my soles but then it might prove salubrious to my soul.

AT least with all this Go-for-Fifty-fad, people won't think you're demented when they see you out for a stroll.

Say, have you ever told the kids we used to walk thirty blocks to school?

Try adding sleet snow. That'll really slay 'em!

Next stop, Livermore . . . & hand me my raisins, honey!

Why Take 'Hot' Trip To Clayton?

By WALT WRIGHT

I've decided not to ask civil defense officials to tell me where to go.

When the bombs start falling, that is.

A column outlining a "family plan" for survival in the event of nuclear attack appeared on this page a few weeks ago.

Spurred by it, and by civil defense releases I had been rewriting, I, too, decided to look into a survival plan.

EXCEPT FOR the memorization of the few stoic maxims, I haven't come up with much yet.

My difficulty began with the county evacuation map (dated September, 1961) which advised me to evacuate to the east county by car, via, in my case, Clayton.

But, according to a federal CD booklet, "Fallout Protection," shelter took precedence over evacuation as of December, 1961.

Because of "the danger of radioactive fallout to unprotected evacuees, and the decrease in the probable attack-warning time" due to missile-delivery of nuclear warheads.

BEST SHELTER in my two story macadam-based apartment building, I found, was my downstairs neighbor's central hallway.

Whether or not I would be welcome in a three by ten-foot hallway with my neighbor, his wife and their three children, further complicated (or completely solved) by another document.

The "Page Report," which I did not obtain from the CD office, maintains that "for an area like Walnut Creek there is no defense at any attainable price."

WRITING IN October, 1961, then Vice-Mayor of Walnut Creek Douglas Page pointed out that the entire county is, in fact, in a "so-called critical target area."

Page hypothesized, in the old days before that portly fellow with the shoe in his hand began talking about 100 megatons, that a 20-megaton bomb might fall within 10 miles of Walnut Creek.

Such a bomb, according to "Ten for Survival" (Office of Civil Defense, 1959), "can kill most people and destroy most buildings within a five-mile radius of ground zero."

AN UNSHIELDED man 20 miles away could be killed by heat from this weapon, the same booklet told me.

At 16 miles, this weapon's blast damages "wood frame houses beyond repair," the Page Report said. At about 10 miles away, blast would flatten such a building.

IT BECAME clear that strong shelter was my only hope.

CD pamphlets advised me I could build such a shelter (I would have to buy a home—or at least some land—to do this) at little expense, and offered plans for several.

Included were recommendations for a two-week supply of all necessities.

Shaken already, I questioned the figures: Why only two weeks?

Because radioactive fallout would settle in that period, the pamphlets implied.

THAT'S assuming, of course, that the enemy doesn't decide to send a few more missiles over just as Walt and family come up for air, water, food, fuel, clothing and medicine.

And Doug Page's ominous report assured me that—even were the enemy so lenient, or careless — "Walnut Creek would be so scorched, blackened, desolate area without food, fuel, clothing, water or medicine."

I concede myself at a loss (except for my stoic maxims) —no expert on survival.

But I'm not ready to concede the expertness of those who advised me to save my life through the simple expedient of driving towards Clayton.

Does Our Tunnel Need More Bright Lights?

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Taking some relatives home the other day, I drove to San Francisco and then Mill Valley. We drove through three tunnels.

No. 1 was our old friend the Caldecott Tunnel, better known as the Broadway Tunnel.

Aren't the new lights wonderful? But the balance of the tunnel seemed almost pitch black. I grabbed for the light switch and then concentrated on remembering to turn them cff. Even with car lights, the over-all lighting is very poor.

Next — Tunnel No. 2

In San Francisco, we zoomed through their Broadway Tunnel. What a pleasure The lighting is excellent. No car lights needed.

Tunnel No. 3 was in Marin County, a few minutes north of Golden Gate Bridge on the freeway. No dangerous situation here! Lights are bright. No car lights needed. I believe new ones have been installed recently.

The State Division of Highways apparently is aware of "our Tunnel" problem. Remember—not too long ago modern lighting was installed—but only at the entrances.

The BIG QUESTION: Why can't these modern lights be installed the entire length of each bore?

Money for safe lighting?

Certainly they will cost money, time and effort. Millions upon millions of dollars are spent each year on our state highways. This is the money that you and I contribute, mostly from the gasoline tax.

Money for lights would be very well spent. They are not a luxury. They are needed for safe driving. New lights should be installed as soon as possible!

What do you think?

WALDIE BILL

Dear Editor:

Mr. Waldie of Antioch continues to show that he represents only special interests and the Brown political machine.

1. He proposes to exclude part of his favored constituents in eastern Contra Costa County from the Rapid Transit Bond financing—after the bond election was passed under legislation proposed by him. He self-righteously decrees that this was done for central Contra Costa County to exclude it from the A/C Transit District.

It was not done after the bond financing was approved. It was done because of the strong defeat of a bond proposal and grass roots efforts of the people and Board of Supervisors. There was ample opportunity for Mr. Waldie and his Antioch friends to be excluded from the Rapid Transit proposal.

It was known for more than two years that the initial plans would not include direct service to eastern Contra Costa County.

Does Mr. Waldie guarantee that his east-county friends will stay off our trains and refuse to secure the state highway funds that are freed by the transit system?

2. He proposes to make it easier to expand state spending by easing taxes from our pockets — payroll deduction. There can be only one objective to this proposal—create a state budget of the same astronomical proportions as our federal budget.

Mr. Waldie covers this proposal with another smokescreen — that withholding taxes prevent many people from illegally escaping the tax.

If he is sincerely interested in this objective, he can easily introduce legislation to require filing of federal W-2 forms and social security numbers with the state.

3. Mr. Waldie is against a general county equalization property tax for schools. He is right that the state should not encroach on property taxes as a means to equalize school costs.

This is a plus for Mr. Waldie —luckily his Antioch friends stand to benefit the most from this position.

POLICE AND TAXES

Dear Editor:

If Mr. Colburn's informative little tale (Staff Corner, February 8) wasn't meant to shock local residents, it certainly must have been meant to send hundreds of frightened, unthinking residents scurrying out to put their little x's on the nearest ballot for incorporation!

He's picked one murder in one small, executive-style haven named Bloomfield Hills, and seemingly blamed it all onto non-incorporation.

Is he trying to convince us crimes don't occur in incorporated cities?

Well, I'm not convinced that incorporation would guarantee our police protection to be so superb that all of Orinda's hills, hidden roads, and homes snuggled away in canyons would be constantly patrolled; hence free from worry of any armed prowlers. Has murder ceased in Oakland, Berkeley, or San Francisco's "well lighted, patrolled streets?"

Further, since Mr. Colburn comes from Bloomfield Hills, he may well be able to take on "just another small taxation," (the term we're all becoming very familiar with), to be added to Contra Costa's already highest tax rate.

But, unfortunately, we aren't in the executive class, and shall probably be forced to say goodby to our home among the oaks if yet another little tax is added.

We love living in our house, in Orinda, on a quiet, unlit street, with no sidewalks. If we wanted all the "luxuries" of a city we wouldn't have bought a home here, and now I'm beginning to wonder how far away all country loving people have to go to escape all the expensive, impractical ideas the city lovers are so anxious to press onto everyone.

CORRINE JENNINGS
Orinda.

Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kellner, 1293 Candy Court, Lafayette. The bride is a graduate of Acalanes High School.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Turman, 1820 Glenhaven Road, Walnut Creek. He attended Diablo Valley College.

Officiating at the nuptials was Dr. Ernest Troutner. The reception which followed was at the Alamo Women's Club.

Sharon's bridal gown was of white lace and nylon. It had three-quarter length sleeves, scalloped neckline, long waist, and abbreviated train.

The elbow-length veil was held by a tiara. Sharon's bouquet was a cascade of white carnation, lily of the valley centered with orchid.

Susan Miller was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Karen Kellner and Lynn Kellner.

The maid of honor was gowned in aqua with matching veil and shoes.

The other attendants wore yellow with matching veil and shoes. The trio each carried pink carnation cascades.

Leonard Haentjens was best man. Ushers were Michael Barckley and Hal Logan.

The just-weds honeymooned at Lake Tahoe.

MARTIN-PEDERSEN

Walnut Creek's Methodist Church was the site for Sandra Lou Martin and Dale E. Pedersen to exchange marriage vows. Dr. Ernest Troutner officiated at the 3:30 p.m. service.

A reception followed in the church social hall.

Sandra Lou is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Martin, 65 Bryson Drive, Pleasant Hill. She is a graduate of Pleasant Hill High School, and is now attending Diablo Valley College.

The bride is past worthy advisor of Pleasant Hill Rainbow Assembly.

Dale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans E. Pedersen of Concord.

He graduated from Mt. Diablo High School.

Maid of honor for her sister was Ann Martin. Bridesmaids were Nancy Aleshire, Bobbi Richie and Christina Sundin.

Flower girl was Gina La Fayia.

Daryl Pedersen was best man. Ushers were George Secchi, John Martin and Dean McMurry.

Ring bearer was Michael Commers.

As the bride walked down the aisle on her father's arm, she wore a long, white satin gown with chapel train. It had long sleeves, scoop neckline with pearl trim. Gathering in back formed a hint of a bustle. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a crown of pearls and crystal. Sandra carried a small white Bible covered with stephanotis and white roses.

The attendants wore blue peau de soie gowns with bell skirts. They carried cascades of pink roses. The honor attendant's was a shade darker.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Pedersen spent their honeymoon in Carmel.

The Rev. Albert Andreatta, S.D.B., performed the service at high noon. The reception which followed was at Hotel Claremont, Berkeley.

Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Russell Weaver, 23 Pino Crest Road, Walnut Creek. She graduated "maxima cum laude" in June from College of Notre Dame, Belmont. She was first vice president of the student body and was affiliated with Kappa Gamma Pi.

The groom graduated from St. Mary's College. He is teaching high school in Bellflower while studying toward a doctorate in psychology.

Maid of honor was Sally Shields.

Bridesmaids were Mary Jo Avilla, Carolyn Julie Weaver, sisters of the bride. Honorary bridesmaid was Olga Vargas of Nicaragua, former college roommate of the bride. Olga is studying in Geneva, Switzerland.

Best man was Michael Adams.

Ushers were Patrick Daughton, Martin Duserre and Donald Sellek. Honorary usher was Private Martin Young of the U.S. Marine Corps, San Diego.

Mary's gown was of alencon lace with bouffant skirt gathered to a fitted bodice. It had long sleeves and scoop neckline which was edged with sequin. In back, a lace and accordion-pleated tulle "apron" effect flowed into a chapel train.

The double-tiered elbow-length veil of silk French illusion was held by a flower petal pearl crown tipped with aurora borealis crystals.

The bride carried a shower bouquet of gardenia.

Her single strand of cultured pearls was a gift of the bridegroom.

Attendants were gowned in identical persimmon satin. Their crown headpieces with circular veils, as well as slippers, were matching.

Their bouquets were cascades of mint green spider chrysanthemum. The honor Mrs. John F. Strand, Walnut Creek, played the traditional wedding music.

Altar boys were Cary and Tony Sobral of Walnut Creek.

The Carmodys honeymooned at Carmel.

Glad Rags Sale Is Set

A familiar idea with a new twist is the Rocking Horse Chapter's annual glad rags and rummage sale, to be held for one day tomorrow.

Chapter members have been busy raiding attics, closets, basements and garages in preparation for this big once a year fund raiser.

This type of event has proven so successful in the past that it now is an annual ways and means project, states President Mrs. Earl Morgensen.

Proceeds from this sale will help benefit the Children's Home Society of California, the only licensed adoption agency serving all of California which is a member of the United Crusade.

The sale will be at the Veterans' Memorial Building, 1250 Locust Street, Walnut Creek, between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

All members and their husbands will gather at the hall the night before to arrange rummage for the big sale.

Glad rags, in all shapes and sizes with a large variety of household furnishings, bric-a-brac plus much more will be in the offering, according to Ways and Means Chairman Mrs. Walter Rockway, who will be assisted by Co-Chairman Mrs. L. S. Helmeci.

Mrs. Walter Rockway, ways and means chairman, also announced that plans are being formulated for the annual bridge luncheon to be held in May.

APT PUPILS are these doctors from Children's Hospital of the East Bay who will be part of the Melodious Mystery Medics March 2 at Easter Fair, annual hospital - sponsored benefit. Mrs. Robert Bridges (center) of Lafayette is choreographer for the variety show which will be one of five Easter Fair events March 1, 2 and 3 at the Hotel Claremont.

Easter Fair Plans Are Getting in High Gear

A rollicking night of fun is predicted when doctors at Children's Hospital of the East Bay step out of character to present the Melodious Mystery Medics at the 25th annual Easter Fair, three-day benefit March 1, 2 and 3 at the Hotel Claremont.

"Most expensive chorus line this side of New York" is the description given of the "medics," that indefatigable group of doctors who will be the headliners in the Gold Room Saturday night, March 2.

No one yet has an inkling as to the identity of the professional men, but rumor has it that these distinguished citizens will let their hair down in a chorus line, a skit or two and music from jazz to classical.

Lafayette's Mrs. Duncan Knudsen of Poplar Branch, chairman of the evening, will not elaborate on types and talent. However, she has "signed on" Mrs. Robert Bridges of Lafayette as choreographer and, between the two of them, they are devising some wily routines for their apt and otherwise dignified performers.

Others assisting with the Melodious Mystery Medics are Mrs. Charles Coburn and Mrs. Wilfred W. Wiggins, both of Poplar.

In the spotlight will be pediatricians, heart specialists, surgeons, urologists, a radiologist, a plastic surgeon and others, and young "patients" will play drums, trumpet, slide trombone and saxophone to enliven the proceedings with New Orleans jazz.

The Children's Hospital of the East Bay-sponsored Easter Fair will present five events in all, opening at noon Friday, March 1, with a lavish I. Magnin fashion show and luncheon in the Garden Room.

DAR Chapter Has Meeting

Mrs. John C. Farmer and Mrs. Tyke A. Enbom were co-hostesses for the February meeting of the Mt. Diablo Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The luncheon meeting was at the Lafayette home of Mrs. Enbom, February 5.

Mrs. Fred Kelleway, regent, presided.

Mrs. George M. Peterson, Berkeley Hills Chapter, spoke about February as American history month.

Special guests at the recent tea honoring Miss Ann Stone, recipient of this year's good citizen award, were her mother, Mrs. Dorothy Stone; the dean of girls of San Ramon High School, Mrs. Emma Wilson; and the Mesdames Thelma Bohannen, Betty Cramer, Mrs. L. Vincent, state vice-chairman of insignia.

Through the Tunnel to the Junior League's Gala Charity Ball . . .

By MARIE MONAHAN

More than a few fashionable gowns got rainsplashed during last weekend's bash by the Junior League of Oakland. And not uncommon was the sight of sweeping floor - length skirts being held high while Milady made the mad dash from car to dry dock shelter at Jack London Hall where the double benefit party took place both Friday and Saturday night.

Chilled damp guests were warmed by greetings from Mrs. Robert (Janet) Angell of Orinda who did hostess duties just inside the entry. The Joseph Longacres of Orinda stopping for a closer inspection of the mammoth orchid trees. The fancy flowers were the real McCoy and keynoted the color for the decor of this first and very successful duo Charity Ball.

Cynthia Stampley of Orinda was chairman in charge of the regal fashion promenade. For the first time, this perennial model at league affairs took to the supervisory sidelines to see that her entourage of gorgeous gals were hooked and zipped up properly in the beautiful ball gowns that preceded the vocal talents of songster John Raitt.

LONG APPLAUSE greeted country - side models: Mrs. Harold (Caroline) Havre of Orinda taking to the runway in a shimmering pale green and gold sheath . . . Dark-haired Mrs. Jack (Rene) Dana wearing a white crepe sheath, Cleopatra - collared, and her coiffure piled high upon her head . . . Dashing Mrs. George (Sally) Peterson of Danville rating a burst of approval for the slim white peau de soie she wore, while Lafayette's Mrs. Thomas (Dayna) Taylor presented a stunning portrait on stage in a slim-topped orange brocade blooming out into a stiff bell-shaped skirt.

MAKING A COMEBACK on the distaff side of the 1500-plus guests who attended were the new long formals with a new look in totally feminine hairdos, one of which belonged to the aforementioned Cynthia Stampley sporting a high bun or "postiche" in the manner of Mrs. Kennedy's more formal hairstyles.

POISED for picture - taking were Dr. and Mrs. John Hansen of Lafayette with the talented Joanne stunning in an exquisite floor - length apricot-pink gown of her own design and sewing expertise. It had its own elegant wrap to match and the tall young matron's hairdo boasted a bandeau of wide velvet ribbon.

A Lafayette group dining together were the Richard Crouses, James Morrises and John and Janet McMahon . . . The Miles Hudsons of Alamo and William Channells of Lafayette on the dance floor to the music of Ernie Hecksher . . . Betty and Joe Richards with the Pierre Taylors, Jane and Bob Wade, and the Jim Edwards of Walnut Creek.

Mrs. Johnson (Louise) Clark of Lafayette turning her camera on the crowd to catch a few candids . . . The David Hardys ,John Evanses at the Harold Havres' table, all from Orinda.

THE SUPER entertainment of the evening was musical comedy star John Raitt deservedly described by one Leaguer as the very "epitome of all that's good in Show Biz."

Raitt ran through his most famous numbers from "Carousel," "Oklahoma!" as well as "Hey, There!" from "Pajama Game." And if the ladies were not swooning in the aisles, it was simply because they were stifling the strong yen to do just that! He was a marvelous guest, at ease and charming, and called on his attractive wife to accompany him for the full Friday program as well as for a portion of the Saturday night show.

Look-alike Jim Christiansen, who is the brother of Mrs. William (Carol) Platt of Orinda, was introduced to Raitt as "your twin." The former Lafayette man, now living in Oakland, is a dead-ringer for the very handsome and healthy Raitt. During the evening, he was many times mistaken for the show star.

AT A LONG table, a large Orinda group, guests of the Richmond Stampley's, Cay and Jack McLaren, the Jeff Larkins (Sis in black and white lace), Gordon and Maryly Martin (her frock, a short white chiffon), the brothers Beckett, Bill and Jack and their wives, and Barbara and Jack Rieser of Sleepy Hollow.

The sizeable take from the Charity Ball will serve to benefit the Junior League's pet project, the new Speech & Hearing Clinic at Children's Hospital, as well as other community philanthropies and activities.

The Ski Line . . .

When Spring Comes, You Just Might Be Skiing

By HEC HANCOCK

Still the long game of blind man's buff involving the Sierra and snow continues unabated. To this point the issue has not been resolved.

While still mindful of the many and varied catastrophes that have hit this ski season, there appears room currently for some guarded optimism.

Good skiing appears available at the higher elevations. Heavenly Valley, Slide Mountain, Alpine Meadows and Squaw Valley all report good conditions on their upper slopes.

Earlier in the week, the snowline fell to 5500 feet. It will be a little longer before we have good overall ski conditions everywhere. But, the important thing is, conditions are improving.

Just a little more patience. Or is patience giving way to apathy?

Mike Breuleux and Keith Howard of Walnut Creek, currently attending Claremont College down south, took advantage of the recent semester break to enjoy a week of skiing at Alta, Utah.

Pete Williams, Lynn Hurst and Bob Alamano of Las Lomas High School utilized the time afforded them by Lincoln's Birthday to ski Slide Mountain out of Reno.

Walton Kirk of Alamo found that spring skiing conditions prevailed at Heavenly Valley on the upper slopes.

This week end, contingent upon snow conditions, Lloyd Parry will lead an eager group of neophyte skiers from Oakgrove School to Alpine Meadows. A fun and ski trip, with the emphasis on learning to ski.

There's certainly no question but that the current season is the worst ever experienced by Northern California skiers. While we have had seasons that were late getting under way, never have things been this bad.

However, bad as they are, there's little that can be done about it.

As Mark Twain pointed out, you can talk about the weather but there's nothing you can do about it.

Now it appears (I've got my fingers crossed) that snow conditions are begrudgingly improving. There's still time for plenty of skiing.

It's possible that there could be nearly three months to be salvaged. This is of course predicated on the premise we continue to get snow.

Normally, very few people can make it up skiing more than five or six times yearly. With a little overdue luck, there could be plenty of time to handle that.

Since there's no point in crying over spilt milk, we just have to adjust to the situation. Those trips that were postponed in January can be made up during March and April.

For my money, that's the best time to ski anyway. I'll take the blue skies, warm sun, corn snow and leisurely lunches to that so-called powder snow any time.

Just so long as we have some spring skiing.

Friday Roundup

Dons Take Mats, 50-36, To Roar into FAL Lead

Revenge was great for the Acalanes Dons last Friday night.

They not only avenged an earlier loss to Miramonte, but they scored a 50-36 victory over the Matadors to claim sole possession of first place in the Foothill Athletic League before an overflow crowd in Orinda.

Prior to the opening whistle, the two schools were tied for the league lead with 6-1 records.

In other Friday night tilts, Piedmont barely edged Las Lomas, 48-45, and San Ramon outlasted Del Valle, 47-45.

OVER IN the DVAL's Contra Costa Division, College Park upset Antioch, 62-56. With Antioch's loss, Pittsburg took over first place by knocking off Pacifica, 48-43. Clayton Valley dropped Ygnacio Valley, 66-37.

The Acalanes-Miramonte had all the earmarks of being a straight down-the-wire type of game.

It wasn't anything like that to start with as Acalanes scored quickly and often to run up a first period advantage of 16-6.

Down but not out, the Matadors recovered some of their senses and led by Bruck Nickerson and Pete Boyle they roared back in the second quarter to overtake the Dons and go into a three-point lead, 25-22.

It was back and forth in the third quarter, but the Mats had lost their shooting "eye" again and the Dons entered the final eight minutes with a 34-31 lead.

Midway through the period, it was still anybody's game, but a couple quick baskets plus two steals for easy layups by Doug Sanderson and Kirby Long put the game away for the Dons.

In fact, Acalanes scored 12 straight points in the final minutes before the Mats could counter.

Sanderson was the game's high scorer with 16. Bill Higgins, however, was only a step behind with 15.

Nickerson accumulated 14 for the Mats and Boyle had 10.

With their win, the Dons had a 7-1 record for league play.

FAILURE TO hit from the free throw line caused Las Lomas' loss to Piedmont. With the win the Scots still remained in possible contention for the title, holding down third place right behind Miramonte.

At halftime, the Scots were far out in front, 32-18, but when the Knights managed to put together 13 points in the third quarter and came on with a 14-5 point edge over Piedmont in the fourth.

Bob Kreider was high man for Las Lomas with 16.

Tom Stewart and Bob Wolfe paced the Clans' attack with 17 and 14 points.

The San Ramon Wolves barely outlasted Del Valle on Chuck Fereira's 20-foot set shot with only three seconds left.

San Ramon had trouble finding the range in the first quarter, and then the same thing happened to Del Valle in the final stanza.

Fereira not only won the game but he was the top scorer for both teams, lumping 23 points through the basket.

Dave Paul topped the Trojans with 14 and Bob Kovats came right behind at 11.

IN THE DVAL's Contra Costa Division, College Park was outshot from the floor but from the free throw line the Falcons plunked in 22.

The Panthers commanded a seven-point first quarter lead but their comeback try was too late.

Roger Mower and Sam Martinelli led the Falcons to victory with 19 and 13 points, but Antioch's Ron Edwards was high for the game with 21.

In the Pleasant Hill-Mt. Diablo game, the Rams held only a slim two-point lead at halftime, 18-16, and then barely clung on throughout the remainder of the tilt.

DESPITE THEIR victory, the Rams had only one man, Ray Perry, who could score in the double column, and that was a bare 12.

For the Red Devils, John Vierra had 14 and Dick Sims came through with 13.

In the case of Ygnacio Valley, the Warriors dropped next to bottom with their loss to Clayton Valley. Rex Emenegger staged a one-man show, accounting for 11 points, but despite his effort, the Warriors were far behind at the intermission, 30-11.

High-Flying Dons Drop San Ramon

Tuesday was Lincoln's Birthday with the holiday forcing basketball teams in the Central Contra Costa Area to play their mid-week games one day earlier, on Monday.

But the date switch didn't mean one iota to the Acalanes Dons who ran out onto the San Ramon court and pounded the Wolves into submission with a 57-51 win.

And with the victory, the Dons stayed right at the top of the Foothill Athletic League heap with an 8-1 record.

MIRAMONTE, a last Friday victim of the Dons, kept a tight grip on second place by toppling Del Valle in a close one, 56-53. The only other Monday action in the FAL saw Alhambra finally inching its way out of the cellar with a one-point squeaker over Las Lomas, 47-46. Las Lomas, which last season lost only three games, fell to the bottom of the pit with the loss.

OVER IN the DVAL's Contra Costa Division, the Pittsburg Pirates remained in a tie for the league lead by taking Pleasant Hill, 50-43. In a neighborhood scuffle, College Park handily whipped Ygnacio Valley, 59-41. The Falcons' victory enabled them to move up into third place in league standings with a 6-4 record.

FOOTHILL

Acalanes 57, San Ramon 51

Once again it was Doug Sanderson who came through in the clutch to help the Dons tumble the stubborn San Ramon Wolves.

For the evening's work he had 24 points, but it was his hot shooting in the second and fourth quarters that helped the Dons forge a victory and retain their FAL lead.

AT HALF-TIME the Dons were far out in front, 28-14, but the Wolves came on in a rush in the third quarter by popping in 20 points. The fourth quarter was almost even, with the Wolves scoring one more point than the Dons, 17-16.

For the Wolves the high men were Chris Reed, 14, Chuck Fereira, 13, and Ron McLaughlin, 10.

Miramonte 56, Del Valle 53

At half-time the Mats were down, 37-33, and from the way the Trojans were playing it looked as if Miramonte might be going down for its second consecutive loss.

But the Mats had their consecutive double-column shooters, Steve Thaman, Eric Unruh and Bruce Nickerson, on target and they outlasted the Trojans in the final minutes of play.

THAMAN AND UNRUH each had 15 points and Nickerson managed to tally 10.

For the Trojans, Bob Kovats was high man with 17 and Vic Shellenberg followed with 14. Bill O'Toole also broke into the double columns with 10.

Alhambra 47, Las Lomas 46

Alhambra which had occupied the cellar suddenly took a dislike to that position and exchanged positions with the Knights by winning in the final seconds of play on a bucket by Tim Hills, high man for the evening with 19 points.

THE KNIGHTS were behind at the half, 25-20, but their two-man scoring punch, Rich Bovo and Bob Kreider, pumped in 16 and 11 points, respectively, to make the game an even one throughout the third and fourth quarters.

CONTRA COSTA DIVISION

Pittsburg 50, Pleasant Hill 43

The surprise of the game was the half-time score. The Rams were out in front, 17-15, and it appeared that the Pirates just might be knocked out of the league lead with Antioch.

But John Pappas, who hit 21 for Pitt, banged home 17 points in the second half to secure the victory. Mark Kimball was the only Ram who could break into the double column, scoring 12 points.

College Park 59, Ygnacio Valley 41

In this neighborhood battle, the Falcons paced by their scoring ace, Roger Mower who had 20, never were behind. With the win, the Falcons moved up the ladder and took over third place with a 6-4 mark.

BUT AS good as Mower was, he had to share scoring honors with Ygnacio Valley's Dave Young, who also had 20. The Falcons were also helped by Mickey Walters who had 11 and Bobby Roberts who swished the basket for 10 points.

DVC Fights for Title Chance in SF Tonight

The Vikings of Diablo Valley College will know tonight just how far they're going in the Golden Gate Conference basketball race.

They meet the co-leader, San Francisco City College, in San Francisco at 8 p.m.

CCSF shares the lead with Oakland City College, victors over DVC last Friday by a score of 62-57. The T-Birds moved into a tie for the league lead when San Francisco was upset by San Jose City College, 69-59.

THE VIKING-OAKLAND game was supposed to feature a hot duel between the T-Birds' Taft Jackson and Diablo's Mickey Toner.

Toner and Jackson were great, but Viking guard Sam Coston was even better. He pumped in 19 points, two more than Toner, and grabbed seven rebounds. The only trouble was that his teammates had slippery fingers and more than once Coston had to stand by and watch them lose the ball to the T-Birds.

Both teams were outstanding in their shooting, hitting more than 50 per cent of their shots from the floor.

Jackson ended up with 16 points, one less than Toner, but he picked off six rebounds compared to Mickey's two.

IF ANYTHING Oakland won the game from the free throw line sinking 18 charity tosses as compared to 13 for the Vikings.

The half-time score was 31-22 in favor of Oakland with the Viking never quite able to capture the lead.

On Wednesday the Vikings met San Mateo College at Diablo Valley.

Catholic League Cagers Enter 2nd Round of Play

The all-new Diablo Catholic League for boys from the fourth grade through high school completed the first half of its first season last week.

At the present there are almost 500 boys playing in the new league.

There are 37 teams now competing in seven leagues.

Teams are comprised of boys living within Catholic parishes in Orinda, Lafayette, Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill, Concord, Martinez, Pittsburg and Benicia.

The Catholic Youth Organization which normally sponsors sports activities for Catholic boys and girls has not yet moved its operation into the suburbs.

The league was formed through the efforts of individuals who live in the central county area.

All leagues except the high school are divided into two rounds of play. The winners from each round play off for the league championship. If one team wins both rounds, it then plays an all-star team in the post-season competition.

The high school league has a four-team, round-robin playoff after the regular season to determine its champion.

In the eighth grade division a special playoff will be held Monday, 7 p.m. at Miramonte to determine the first round champion. St. Mary's and Santa Maria tied for the league's top spot with 3-1 records.

In the sixth grade division, Santa Maria's two entries will play tomorrow evening at St. Mary's College to decide the first round winner. Both teams are 3-0. They were scheduled to meet earlier in the season, but the game was postponed.

Regular season play ends during the last week of February.

Diablo Catholic League games are played Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings in the various Acalanes Union High School District gyms as well as St. Mary's College and the two intermediate schools in Orinda.

Attention, Salmon Men; Take Pills, Swells Hi

By GEORGE R. WHITE

Over the weekend and the earlier part of the week Giant Point, Buoy 6 and 8 were giving up some nice stripers. A trio of salts took the limit with the smallest going 15 pounds and the largest hittin' 20 pounds.

The steelhead picture is quite a bit muddy; in fact, word has it that the fish have hung out the spring vacation signs and started housecleaning.

For you fresh water dabblers the cats are hittin' up at Berryessa and Conn Dam (Lake Hennessy). Tomorrow you salmon men better take some sea-sick pills. Reports have it that there are swells on the ocean. High ones, I mean.

The rock fishing boats as of the first of the week haven't seen any schools of salmon. However, the rock fishing is good when a boat can get out.

Haven't heard much of anything from Sacramento about those 23 antiguns that were supposed to be in the hopper. At the moment things are a bit slow up there. Committees were appointed late and the printers are finally catching up on printing the bills.

However, we do anticipate some bills, and early indications point to some pretty obnoxious ones at that. At this time the assembly is in the 1200s and there is expected to be about 4000 bills for them which is about average. The senate is more than 400 and their average is about 2000 bills for the session.

So keep tuned to this column in regard to the above.

This time of the month the clubs are having their powwows to see what to cook up next. So after the gab sessions I should be able to sift some dope for you all.

One thing that is going on at the moment is a membership drive. Now if you're interested call these gents at these numbers. Some of them are club presidents. Diablo Rod and Gun—Charles Webster, 682-0852; Walnut Creek Sportsmen — Jim Monk, 685-0933; Concord Sportsmen—William Fuhrer, 682-5361.

A fly reel is mainly a place to store line when not in use. Some of the men of the gentler art of fishing get one to do just that, others get one to show off, and it's expensive as the deuce. Well to each his own.

However, how would you like to have a real lightweight reel, it only weighs three ounces. Yes, three ounces!

That long-time maker of good quality flies and lures, Weber, is putting this rugged dependable reel on the market. It has silent drag or can be converted to standard click, is made of high-impact plastic and is simple to take apart. It sells for only about $3.50, see it at your dealer. It's called the Webercraft 500.

March 7-14 is Conservation Week in California and it will be observed for the 29th year in a row. Conservation Week is sponsored by the California Conservation Council and supported by the federal and state agencies.

A re-edited color movie, "The California Ringneck," has been issued by the Department of Fish and Game. This 10-minute movie on the pheasant, and 16 other movies on fish and wildlife subjects, may be obtained through any DFG office by service clubs, organizations and other groups.

For those of you who chase black bass here is a worthwhile piece of merchandise that can refresh your memory. It's "Lucas on Bass Fishing." You'll like his style of conservation and the many other helpful hints he throws around.

Remember this boy is a staff writer for "Sports Afield," one of our big three monthly sports magazines. You should be able to pick up a copy of Jason Lucas' book for about $6 at any bookstore.

Was able to attend that wonderful steak and trophy dinner of the Walnut Creek Sportsmen. And a very good group of sportsmen they are.

With Jim Monk, president, presiding at the meeting, and Art Evans emceeing the trophy awards, the winners were Chet Arthur, striped bass; Hugh Yeager, salmon; Jim Buck trout; C. Rasmussen, pheasant tail; Bill Walter, duck wing; R. Cunningham, goose wing; C. MacDonald, coast deer; Art King, inland deer; T. G. Casey, out-of-state deer.

Dons Seek 9th Victory Tonite

--Sun Sports--

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1963

VICTORY . . .

. . . AND DEFEAT

Miramonte Coach Herb Graw (and friends) watch game's bitter ending

Acalanes Can Widen FAL Lead With Victory

With Miramonte having a bye tonight, the Dons of Acalanes go up against Del Valle with high hopes that they can cement a tighter hold on first place in the Foothill Athletic League.

The Trojans can't be figured as pushovers. Last Monday, they barely lost to Miramonte by three points, 53-56, and while their league mark of 3-6 is rather skimpy, the Trojans can be computed as a tough opponent on any given night.

Acalanes now has an 8-1 league play record, with the sole loss being to the Piedmont Clan earlier in the season.

BUT COACH Bert Barnett's boys have apparently hit their stride because in last Friday's encounter with Miramonte they had very little trouble.

Acalanes should be careful not only tonight, but also Tuesday when the Dons visit the lowly Las Lomas Knights, now kneedeep in the cellar.

Las Lomas will have its hands full tonight with an encounter with the San Ramon Wolves who gave Acalanes a nip-and-tuck battle last Monday. The Wolves are still trying to reach a 5-5 record in league action, and they'll be striving to do just that against the Knights.

IN A THIRD FAL game tonight, Piedmont isn't expected to have too much trouble with Alhambra, which barely traded cellar positions with Las Lomas on Monday.

Over in the DVAL's Contra Costa Division the College Park Falcons find themselves with a breather in the shape and form of Pacifica which has suffered 10 consecutive losses.

The Rams of Pleasant Hill aren't going to be happy because tough Antioch, which is sharing the league lead with Pittsburg, is their opponent. Both Pittsburg and Antioch have identical 8-2 league marks and Antioch will be hoping to move ahead in the standings.

NEXT TUESDAY the Rams and Falcons will engage in a backyard scuffle and a win for College Park then, as well as tonight, will place them in a very good position to move up closer in the league standings.

College Park is now in third place with a 6-4 mark while Pleasant Hill has a 5-5 seasonal average.

WHILE A FLOCK of Dons hover around him, Miramonte's scoring ace, Bruce Nickerson uses swan-like grace to plunk in two points for his team during last Friday's heated battle between the two teams. A flurry of fourth-quarter points for Acalanes gave them the win, 50-36, and first place in the Foothill Athletic League.

Gaels Sink Broncs; Face USF Saturday

St. Mary's Gaels and University of San Francisco battle it out at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Oakland Auditorium to decide which team will claim sole possession of first place in the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Each has five wins against no losses.

The game will pit two players against each other who only last week were especially honored by the sports writers for their sterling work.

ST. MARY'S Steve Gray, of course, was one of them. In recent games against Loyola and Pepperdine, he rang up 50 points.

The other player honored was Ollie Johnson, USF's sophomore center. His average from the floor was around 60 per cent against the same two teams.

On Tuesday night St. Mary's moved into a tie with USF by crushing Santa Clara, 72-65, before 3000 screamers in San Jose Civic Auditorium.

For once, Gray, who pelted in 20 points, was out-scored by his teammate, little guard Joe Lee who left the game with 21.

STOCKY forward Kit Ruona also helped magnificently by pumping in 10 points.

At half-time the Gaels were down by seven points, 36-29, but the Bronco lead was quickly wiped away and St. Mary's shot into a nine-point margin.

Ruona, in addition to scoring 10 points for himself, led the Gael rebounders with 10 and kept 6-7 Bronco forward Joe Weiss to three field goals in the first half.

The score was tied three times in the second half before Lee began collecting 13 of his 21 points and St. Mary's moved in front to stay.

PRIOR TO the important tilt, phychological warfare was a feature on both campuses. At Santa Clara the words "St. Mary's" were painted on the lawn, and during the same day the Broncos retaliated by flying over Moraga and plastering the Gael campus with leaflets reading "Beat St. Mary's. Go Broncos. Bomb the Gaels."

On Tuesday the two teams will have a rematch but this time the tilt will be at Oakland Auditorium. Game-time is 8 p.m.

Last Saturday Gray poured in 27 points as St. Mary's won a tough one from lightly-regarded Loyola, 74-69, at the Oakland Auditorium. For awhile the Gaels were in fits on defense as they tried to stop Lion sophomore forward Dick Schindler who canned 22 points.

He tied the score at 63-all with only three minutes left but a short while later Gael Steve Miller put the game on ice by sinking a pair of free throws. They came with only 31 seconds left in the game.

Baldwin Reads Bible for JFK

Congressman John F. Baldwin represented the House of Representatives at a Presidential Prayer Breakfast in Washington, D. C., last week.

The man from the 14th District, president of the House Prayer Breakfast Group in 1963, read a passage of Scripture for the occasion.

The annual event was attended by President John F. Kennedy and Vice-President Lyndon Johnson, both of whom spoke at the breakfast.

Sunday Search for Sandhill Cranes

The sight of sandhill cranes and other waterfowl is the goal of Mt. Diablo Audubon Society members who depart Sunday for Terminus Island and the delta region on a field trip.

Leaders Bev Wilder and Barbara Bonnickson will meet trip members in front of "The Cafe" in Thornton at 9:15 a.m., according to spokesman Frances Blake.

Dog Club Will Challenge Bay Groups Sunday

Mt. Diablo Dog Training Club has set Sunday and March 31 as the dates for their Challenge Matches in the recreation center at Walnut Creek City Park.

On these dates Mt. Diablo will challenge the San Francisco, St. Francis, San Leandro, Oakland, Vallejo and Santa Clara Dog Training Clubs.

According to Norman Glass, chairman, the idea of a challenge match is to see which club can achieve the highest combined score in novice, open and utility classes.

These matches also serve as a warm-up for Mt. Diablo's 16th annual Obedience Trial April 28.

Glass, assisted by Walt Volz, invited all club members and handlers attending Mt. Diablo dog training classes to enter these matches under the club's colors.

Rings are set-up to provide practice and experience under actual show conditions .

In addition to the three regular classes a Novice Y class for inexperienced handlers and dogs will be held.

The scores from Novice Y will not be made a part of the total club score, so anyone can enter Novice Y and gain ring experience without having their score influence the overall club's score.

Registration for these matches will be taken from twelve noon at the recreation center the days o the show with judging to start at 12:30 p.m. Ribbons will be presented to winners in each class.

Sandwiches and coffee will be served during the afternoon's matches and spectators are invited to attend the shows free of charge.

Chrysanthemum Society to Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Northern California Chrysanthemum Society will be held Monday at the P.G.&E. Building on Bonanza Street, Walnut Creek.

Science Students Spend Heart Day in Hospital

Twenty top science students of the Acalanes Union High School District were guests of the Contra Costa County Heart Association in a "Heart Research Day" tour at Children's Hospital of the East Bay on Friday.

Representatives from Acalanes, Del Valle, Las Lomas and Miramonte High Schools spent the day touring the hospital and the Bruce Lyon Memorial Research Laboratories.

Students viewed demonstrations of use of diagnostic apparatus, observed experimental work in progress and heard reports from members of the hospital staff on research projects.

"Heart Research Day" is observed annually throughout the nation in connection with the February Heart Fund Drive. Purpose of the observance is to acquaint promising science students with possibilities of careers in cardiovascular research.

Tour director was Dr. Martin Palmer, a former recipient of a Norman Leet fellowship for heart research.

Dr. Charles L. Dimmler, Jr., chairman of the research committee of Children's Hospital, arranged the day's tour.

Students participating in the day's events included: Acalanes High School, Lafayette, Kitty Fadenberger, Pat Latter, Richard Holmes, Linda Rockwell, and Bob Dahl.

Del Valle High School, Walnut Creek, Sheryl Donaldson, Bruce Schreider, John Sehring, Judy Southworth, and Bill Johnson.

Las Lomas High School, Walnut Creek, Robin Millholland, Linda Perry, William Winslow, Don Smith and John Allen.

Miramonte High School, Orinda, Ann Clyatt, Nancy Young, Cherie Messersmith, Gordon Templeton and Dorothy Spear.

Engineers Hear Dean on Education

Diablo Professional Engineers met last night at the Walnut Creek Inn to hear a discussion of trends in engineering education.

John R. Whinnery, dean of the College of Engineering at the University of California, addressed the local chapter of the California society.

Young GOP's To Seek Funds

"A dollar from each Republican household can net us over $40,000," spokesman Dave Clark announced last week following a meeting of the county Young Republican Executive Board.

Young Republicans, Clark said, plan to initiate a county-wide fund raising drive in May.

In the mid-county area, Hal Stevens, Walnut Creek representative-at-large, will supervise the drive.

Reading Homer Begins Lectures At High Schools

The Acalanes District Humanities Seminar series of lectures began recently at Miramonte High School.

Dr. Norman Springer of St. Mary's College gave the lecture for the one hundred high school students who are members. Dr. Springer is an associate professor of English at St. Mary's College. His topic was "Reading Homer."

The Humanities Seminar thus began the third year of offering unusual lectures to high school students of the Acalanes District.

It has developed in response to the growing indication of need of students at the secondary school level for wider experience in the humanities, according to spokesman Mrs. Richard Leland. It is open to all interested students at the five high schools in the Acalanes District.

The committee is composed of Joshua Bradly, Hans Crome, Paul Pollaczek and Dr. Harold Winters, and Mesdames Harry Davis, H. T. deMan, Richard Leland, E. G. Wallace and John Whinnery.

Independent Bank Closes Stock Sale

The Mount Diablo First National Bank has successfully closed its subscription sale, having disposed of $500,000 in stock for the new bank which will be built in the new Twin Oaks Square at the corner of Contra Costa Boulevard and Gregory Lane, Pleasant Hill.

At the initial shareholder's meeting held on January 17 at the Concord Inn, the shareholders present elected the following members of the organizing committee to the first board of directors:

Harold Apger, certified public accountant; Howard Eddy, president, Howard Eddy Motors; Enzo Franceschi, certified public accountant; John Kennedy, insurance broker; Howard Kepler, owner. Crystal Pool Hardware; Harry L. Morrison Jr., professor of public administration, St. Mary's College; John E. Pearson, president, Pearson Lumber Company; Mason Roberts, retired vice president, General Motors Corporation; Neil C. Ross, chief engineer, Dow Chemical Company; Lawrence Wallace, real estate appraiser, and E. H. Winslow, insurance broker.

At subsequent meetings of the board of directors, Harry L. Morrison Jr. was elected chairman of the board and president of the bank, while John E. Pearson was elected secretary.

THE STOCK subscription in the amount of $500,000 has been widely distributed among members of the community, with 230 individual shareholders participating in the new bank.

"This broad base of local individual ownership will mean that the new bank will indeed be the locally owned bank that the organizers had hoped for," stated President Morrison.

Plans for the interior of the bank, which will be opposite Pay Less Shopping Center, are being designed by Shaw-Walker Company of San Francisco.

The bank building and adjoining buildings are being designed by Harry Nakahara, Martinez architect.

Construction on the new building for the bank is expected to start during the month of March, with a target date for opening in the new headquarters of July 1. As an interim measure, the board has arranged for temporary quarters to be located in close proximity to the bank's final location.

Operating officers of the bank have been chosen and will commence pre-opening operational planning during the next month.

The Mount Diablo First National Bank is the first independent national bank to be established in Contra Costa County in recent years, stated Morrison.

Bomb Attack Procedures Outlined on County Card

County Administrator J. P. McBrien recently distributed a new pocket-sized card containing Nuclear Attack Emergency Instructions to the board of supervisors and recommended that they carry it with them at all times.

He reported that these cards have been distributed to all county and some district employees.

The reason for the cards was explained in a memo from McBrien to department heads, offices and agencies The memo stated:

"During the recent Cuban crisis it became obvious that some county employees were not well informed on nuclear attack warning and protection instructions.

"To reinform all county employees in this regard the Contra Costa County Disaster Office was authorized to develop and issue a new pocket card describing in brief form alert and take cover signals and setting forth basic instructions on self protection in the event of attack.

The board authorized the disaster office to have additional cards printed for distribution to the general public. The cards will be available shortly at the County Dsiaster Office, 2130 Arnold Highway, Martinez, and may be obtained by writing or phoning that office.

When the heart is afire, some sparks will fly out of the mouth.

Alfred Johnson, realtor member with the W. Ed Wallace Realty Company, has been selected to succeed himself as chairman, Court of Ethics, for the Contra Costa Board of Realtors, according to Ray Henry, president.

The Court of Ethics is comprised of outstanding realtor members with records of accomplishments, Henry said. Assisting Johnson are: Sunny Read, Thelma Braly, Logan Coffee, John Imrie, Doug Knight, Jack Ronayne, J. N. Smith and Joseph Cavallero.

The Court of Ethics, assisted by the professional conduct committee, acts as a grand jury and court adjudicating internal problems and public complaints.

Is Hard to Beat Flowering Quince

In the matter of early spring color for your garden, there's none to beat the flowering quinces. Being deciduous they lend emphasis to the impression that spring has arrived when their blossoms first break forth.

And in California the impression is not really hindered by the fact that it's usually February. Such is the beauty of so many February days in our state.

TAKEN AS a family, the quinces offer a widely different variety of garden shrubs. In color of bloom, size and shape of shrub, they are designed to satisfy the gardener who seeks variety. Their one common attribute is beauty, and that they have, indeed. The delicate quality of their blossoms as they break along winter-bare stems is a sight not easy to resist.

Unlike many a deciduous flowering shrub or tree, the quinces have only a minimum need for winter chilling. This combined with the exceptionally long bloom season makes them more widely used in California than practically any other shrubs of their kind.

Distinction is made between the true flowering quinces and those fruiting-flowering varieties which have certain ornamental value also.

Recent years have seen quinces bred mainly for the beauty of their flowers and in this, they surpass any of the two-way varieties to be found.

If you want a fruiting quince for jelly, the California Association of Nurserymen recommends Pineapple or Smyrna. For strictly ornamental use, one of the flowering-only quinces is best.

AMONG THESE are plenty to choose from Clarke's Giant, a full blooming, double red is one of the newest and best on the market.

Another red is Red Ruffles, an outstanding midseason quince of upright growth. Texas Scarlet is a brilliant watermelon red.

Charming and Minerva are both of rose pink hues, though each is different from the other. The best white is appropriately named Snow, and so on through a long list.

By shopping for quinces in the next few weeks, you will find many of them in bloom and thus be able to choose them at the best possible time. You could choose them out of bloom, however, and not go wrong. All of them are beautiful.

Gladiolus Are Glad Bulbs

The gladiolus—of all bulbs—gives us the longest bloom in California. If you plant glads now and repeat the process every two or three weeks until July, you will get a correspondingly long season of bloom, lasting almost until it's time to make the first plantings again for next year.

Bedders Can Give Garden a Jump On Springtime

Getting the jump on spring is always a pleasant sort of one-upmanship in the garden. And the fact it's so easy to do in California makes the pleasure no less enjoyable. If anything, our pleasure is increased by the amount of early color we can come by.

There are shrubs such as camellias which bloom all winter and others such as flowering quince which show color long before they have a right to. But neither of these nor any other shrub makes as bright a calling card for spring as a bed of annuals.

Who can deny that spring has sprung when he picks pansies, pot marigolds and Iceland poppies from his garden?

THESE AND others will be available for planting this month and next, according to the California Association of Nurserymen. alyssum, violas, fairy primrose, men. Among the others: Sweet snapdragons and stock. The last two named will be somewhat later to bloom than the others.

In planting any annuals at this time of year, it is important to provide a well drained soil. The best way to insure drainage is to plant in a slightly raised bed. However, past experience will no doubt have indicated to you which areas in the garden are well enough drained without having to be raised.

ANNUALS GENERALLY love sun and water-planted annuals are no exception. The fact that they perform in cool weather does not eliminate the need for a sunny planting bed. Your nurseryman will no doubt tell you that sun is more important in winter than in summer.

Winter rains are usually sufficient to carry these bedders after you've once watered them in. Don't count on it, however. In California unusual weather is often the usual and extended dry spells are apt to occur. Baiting the new planting for snails is a sensible precaution.

Trouble from these persistent pests may not develop, but you can make sure it won't by simply tossing some pellets out for good measure.

Winter Spray Prevents Summer Bugs

Roses and many other dormant shrubs have been pruned by this time (fuchsias possibly excepted) but have they been sprayed, too? A dormant spraying is one way to catch sleeping pests where they lie and to prevent a possible infestitation before it starts.

Winter sprays can usually be used in greater strength than summer sprays, but be sure to check the manufacturer's instructions on the label of whatever spray you use.

Keep Off Grass —When Wet

Lawn care in winter months consists mostly of keeping off the grass when it's wet. Steer around the lawn whenever you can to keep from compacting the soaked soil. Cut only when the grass is dry, setting the cutting blades lower to trip a close mat.

Prune Fuchsia With Care

The pruning of fuchsias may be done now. Before you prune, however, consider just what the needs are. A fuchsia, like a rose, blooms on new growth each year, so the gardener's aim is to promote enough new growth to carry plenty of bloom next summer.

First remove all weak or damaged wood, then cut the rest back rather severely unless you have some special reason for keeping it long. At least half of the old wood can be removed without danger to the plant and taking more is not an uncommon practice.

Pick Up After Pruning Roses

Cleaning up a rose garden after it's been pruned is an important step in rose culture. Be sure all fallen leaves has been raked out of the area and burned. Left where they fall, they provide potential hiding places for pests and are carriers of last year's fungus problems.

The pruned bushes should be sprayed, and many rosarians soak the ground with spray, too. Others of a more organic bent, however, prefer not to spray the soil, feeling that such practice wipes out many beneficial organisms to be found there.

Do You Wish You Had More Money to Spend?

Do you wish you had more money to spend?

If you do, you are like many other families. Families on all income levels have money problems. A good spending plan to fit your income, your family's needs and preferences can help.

A good plan gives peace of mind about money matters. Mildred Novotny, specialist in home management, University of California, has prepared 10 pages of information with forms to help you organize your finances, plan for spending, saving and meeting emergencies.

Miss Novotny says, "Buying is the control center in managing money. You can get up to 20 per cent more for your money if you know quality, buy what you need at the price you can afford, and pay for the purchase on a sound basis."

Write for a copy of "Money Counts" to Home Advisor, P. O. Box 390, Pittsburg.

Pruning Roses Will Be Shown

East Bay Rose Society will conduct a pruning demonstration on all types of roses, including tree roses, climbing roses, bush roses, border types and miniature roses, at Navlet's Nursery, 1770 Monument Boulevard, Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Edwin D. Lisherness, president, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Leloy Jr., and F. J. Harbrecht will conduct the meeting.

Color slides will be shown by Leloy, past president, on the new and outstanding roses for this area.

He will also show what results insecticide and fertilizers have on roses.

Harbrecht, also past president, will relate the proper way of planting new roses, mulching and irrigating established roses.

Mrs. Leloy Jr. secretary and active member of the society, who helps her husband maintain over 300 choice varieties of roses in their own yard in Lafayette, will join in on the evenings program to make this one of the most exceptional garden lectures of the year.

The public is invited to attend the free garden lectures which are held at Navlet's Nursery every month.

These lectures are designed to help the home gardner with individual garden problems and are sponsored by the nursery, according to Lloyd Reeves, manager.

Sun Home and Garden

Tiered Planter Fills Corner

Have you an odd corner in your yard that always seems to defy any decorative plans? Then, maybe this idea of a tiered planter box might solve your problems.

You can design this planter box in any shape to fit triangle, square, oblong or other odd-shaped area. It can be low or it can be several tiers high.

It need not be particularly fancy, because your plantings will always give it the color and beauty it needs.

Make it from ordinary sound redwood or western red cedar lumber, which will last for many years when exposed to the weather. Two inch dimension lumber is adequate for the job, and most carpenters can build it from pretty rough plans.

You can line it with non-corrosive materials, but you need not if you use either redwood or cedar.

Camellias Like Some Pruning

Much has been written about how you should or shouldn't prune camellias. Some have recommended against pruning them at all, but the California Association of Nurserymen says not to worry. Moderate pruning helps keep camellia plants in good shape.

Often you can do all the pruning you'll want to by simply taking a little stem with you when you cut blooms for the table.

Rosarian Keeps Busy This Month

January is probably the most active month with rosarians. They are on the go — planting new varieties, moving old varieties, moving old varieties, pruning established bushes, applying a dormant spray. If you would join the fun, start by shopping for the new 1960 roses or for some old favorites from former years. If you are a novice, there's rose literature aplenty at the nearest green, white and yellow sign of the California Association of Nurserymen.

EASY LOUVERS
A time saver when building a louvered fence or screen is to use space blocks between the louvers instead of the more time consuming grooving of the top and bottom framing members.

How to Prepare And Keep Nuts

"Information on Preparing, Storing and Using Nuts" includes our Contra Costa County walnuts and almonds as well as tips on Brazils, filberts, chestnuts, pecans and peanuts. Directions for making roasted, salted, sugared nuts and peanut, almond or cashew butter are included.

All nuts keep best in the shell. Once nuts are shelled or packages are opened, the kernels retain freshness best if stored in tight-sealing containers. Using the dry-ice method is described in the leaflet, "Home Preservation of Shelled Walnuts."

You may send for copies of these publications by writing to Home Advisor, P. O. Box 390, Pittsburg.

Islon Is 100 Per Cent Nylon

Question: What is Islon? My daughter has a dress made of it.

Answer: The label should have told you that actually this is a 100 per cent nylon material. The nylon family of fabrics are noted for long wear and unusual abrasion resistance.

Islon looks like suede and feels like velvet. Because it is nylon you can wash it and take the same care of it as you would a nylon dress.

If you'd like a copy of "Clues to Care of Fabrics," write to Home Advisor, P.O. Box 390, Pittsburg.

Garden CHECK-LIST
PREPARED BY THE CALIFORNIA ASSOCIATION OF NURSERYMEN

1. All rose pruning should be completed at the earliest possible time.

2. Fuchsias may be pruned sometime in February. Figure on cutting them back at least a third of their size to promote plenty of new bloom wood.

3. Hydrangeas should be cut back to about half their size. Unpruned hydrangeas become too leggy.

4. House plants should be dunked, pot and all into a tub of water on occasion to insure complete soaking of the root ball.

5. Most fruit trees need pruning now. Ask your nurseryman about procedure if you're in doubt.

Broadway Orient Festival Begins

A three-day Orient celebration is getting underway in Broadway Shopping Center, Walnut Creek.

The event is held Thursday through Saturday at the center, according to George Webster, member of the Broadway Merchants Association.

Highlight of the celebration, in which customers are invited to explore the area's largest shopping center, will be the award of two free trips to the Orient by Broadway merchants.

According to Webster, the two tickets will entitle a pair of lucky shoppers to join The Sun Orient Holiday to Japan and Hong Kong in April.

The Sun Orient Holiday begins April 18 and will last for 22 days.

In conjunction with the drawing, Broadway is featuring several activities related to the Far East during the three-day celebration.

A Japanese garden, created exclusively for the center by the Diablo Gardeners' Association, is located in front of the Lucky Store.

Girls of oriental descent are on hand in traditional costumes.

Ricksha rides are available.

Demonstrations of many oriental arts and crafts, including the dance and calligraphy, are featured.

Displays of various plants, including the exotic bonsai plant, as well as exhibits of oriental currency and newspapers are set up, Webster said.

In addition, representatives from the National Japanese Travel Association and BOAC stewardesses are attending the celebration to speak on Orient travel.

Sun Travel Night Is February 20

Two entertaining films of Japan, "Enchanting Japan" and "Kyoto," will be shown at The Sun's free Travel Night February 20, 8 p.m., Acalanes High School cafeteria.

The entire family is invited to the evening, courtesy of The Sun. In addition to the films, there will be door prizes and a short address by Sun Editor-Publisher Herman Silverman.

The films, in color and with sound, have been made available by the Japan Tourist Association.

They feature cinematic tours of Tokyo, Kyoto, Nikko, Hakone and Nara and picture aspects of the industry, arts and culture of Japan.

Tour Coupons Due at Noon This Saturday

Be sure and deposit your Broadway Orient tour coupon with one of the merchants in the Walnut Creek center before 12 noon Saturday.

This reminder comes from Broadway Merchants Association member Carl Putz.

The center will give away two 22-day Sun Orient Tours to Japan and Hong Kong Saturday at 3 p.m., Putz said.

The two deluxe tours, a $2800-plus value, will take the lucky winners by BOAC jet to the Orient starting April 18 from San Francisco.

Orient Dancers Will Present Broadway Show

Several lovely young students of the Cherry Blossom Dancing School will appear Friday and Saturday at the Broadway Shopping Center in Walnut Creek.

The girls, lead by Cherry Blossom School instructor Reiko Ann Muniz, will treat Broadway's friends to programs of ceremonial dance, according to George Webster, member of the Broadway Merchants Association.

They include Gwyn Morodomi, Patricia Utsurogi, Shirley Muniz and Patty Yamamoto.

The program is all part of Broadway's three-day Oriental celebration, Webster said.

Airman Toone To Keesler AFB

Airman Basic Robert W. Toone Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Toone Sr., 218 Los Cerros Avenue, Walnut Creek, is being reassigned to Kessler AFB, Mississippi, for technical training as a United States Air Force air traffic controller.

Oriental Trees, Plants on Show

Rod Lomas of Lafayette will be responsible for the extensive display of oriental trees and plants to be featured at Broadway Shopping Center's Oriental Celebration in Walnut Creek.

Lomas, 3479 Monroe Avenue, has provided several of the exotic plants through the Broadway Merchants Association, according to association member George Webster.

The display of horticulture from the Far East is one of several exhibits sponsored by Broadway merchants during the three-day event Thursday through Saturday.

Cal-Vets Told To File Storm Damage Claims

Cal-Vet home owners whose homes have been damaged by the current storm will be given immediate assistance by the National American Insurance Company which insures them, announced Joseph M. Farber, director of Veterans Affairs.

This is the second time within three months that the insurance company has been called on to help the contract holders. The storm of October, 1962, brought 744 damage claims and the present storm indicates thre will be even more this time.

Under the provisions of the single company contract, the claims for storm damage and slides will be acted upon at once. Cal-Vet contract holders are urged to contact their nearest Farm and Home district office and report any damage by windstorm or landslides.

Community Leaders Get Girl Scout Recognition

Highlight of the annual council meeting of the Diablo Valley Area Girl Scout Council held recently was presentation of recognition awards for outstanding service by community leaders and Girl Scout adults for the 1962 year.

Council awards are given for significant work and service to the Girl Scout movement by adults in their communities or for the whole council, according to Mrs. Kenneth Hallstone, president of the Diablo Valley Area Girl Scout Council.

The thanks badge, highest award given by the council and national, was received by Mrs. Wallace Bonner, first vice-president of the council, and active on council consolidation studies.

ONLY ADULTS registered with the Girl Scouts may receive this honor after at least five years of service to all girls.

Girl Scout statuettes were given to the following community leaders for their continued interest and help with the Girl Scout program:

Bill Smikahl, Kaiser Foundation Hospital; Rev. Eugene Sill, Hillcrest Congregational Church; Rev. William Stoddard, Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church; Malcolm Loveland, Orinda.

Statuettes were also given to registered adult Girl Scouts Mesdames Edward Johannassen, Orinda neighborhood chairman; John Mink, finance committee; Robert Love, personnel chairman; Vernon Stone, Sierra Woodlands camp chairman; Edward Patterson, Orinda neighborhood chairman.

CERTIFICATES of appreciation were given for special service to the Girl Scouts in their community to Vaughn Wassom, principal of Diablo Vista Elementary School; Charles Laudie, mentary School; Luther Jones, Boy Scout Troop 208; Joseph Sheaff, district superintendent of Orinda School District; Rev. John Dodson, St. Mark's Methodist Church.

Adults in scouting receiving certificates of appreciation included: Milton Newmark, finance committee and lawyer; Mesdames Robert Bartlett, troop organizer; Dan Stebbins, personnel committee; Rose Weston, products chairman; Franz Wassermann, neighborhood chairman; Colbert Davis, vice-president; John Teeling, program committee; C. L. Offen, district chairman.

TEN-YEAR PINS representing 10 years as a registered Girl Scout were given to Mesdames Kenneth Hallstone, Wallace Bonner, Elliot Hartmen, Robert Nichols, Colbert Davis, John Doane, Howard Prater, Francis Bryan, Dan Stebbins, Ruby Morris, Clarence Wolf and J. Orr Kyle.

Election of one-third of the members of the board of directors was held during the council meeting as provided in the by-laws of the Diablo Valley Area Girl Scout charter.

Present members of the board of directors who are continuing to serve are Mesdames Hallstone, president; Davis, second vice-president; Bryan, recording secretary; Prater, corresponding secretary; Ernest Fersten, treasurer; Freeman, Doane, Hartman, Love, Nichols, Mink and Teeling, members at large.

ELECTED TO serve on the board of directors were Mesdames Bonner, first vice-president; E. F. Winthers, third vice-president; Kenneth Brown, fourth vice-president; John Hutch, Frank Stamp, Fred Volberg and Dudley Watson, members at large.

This board of directors will act until the new San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council is formed by council consolidation this summer, according to Mrs. Hallstone.

Water Level in Reservoir Falls But Is in Plan

Where's all the water in San Pablo Reservoir going?

This is the favorite question being asked of the East Bay Municipal Utility District these days by curious residents who have noticed that the reservoir level is, indeed, dropping steadily.

At least it was until this last storm which added 10 feet—nearly two billion gallons—of water.

It is all part of an accurate schedule carefully worked out by East Bay water engineers.

In order to construct new outlet facilities for the Sobrante Filter Plant under construction in El Sobrante, the reservoir level must be dropped 20 feet below the level it occupied during the week of January 14 when people started asking questions, explained Joseph D. DeCosta, chief engineer.

Plans call for a steady drop in the level of the reservoir until the minimum level is reached during the month of August when work on the lower portions of the new outlet facilities will be accomplished.

Pitts at Ease After Cuba Alert

Army Private First Class Harry G. Pitts, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Pitts, 2421 Warren Road, Walnut Creek, recently returned to his home post, Fort Benning, Georgia, from Florida, where he was stationed during the Cuban crisis as a member of the Peninsula Base Command.

Broadway Sends You to Orient

Two lucky shoppers at Broadway Shopping Center, Walnut Creek, will join the Sun Orient Holiday tour next April 18, courtesy of Broadway.

The combined travel prize of two 22-day deluxe tours through major cities, shrines and scenic locales in the Far East, represents a dollar value of over $2800.

The drawing is Saturday 3 p.m.

"No purchase is necessary," said Carl Putz of J. C. Penney's, member of the Broadway Merchants Association executive committee.

"THE SUBSEQUENT drawing and grand prize is for friends of Broadway, old and new, and we know that two of these lucky people will have a delightful trip," Putz said.

The winners may take the trip themselves, or, if unable to do so, may designate anyone else for the two 22-day holidays. According to contest rules, however, no cash substitution or alternate trip may be offered.

The lucky winners will join other Sun Orient holidayers from the area and will be entitled to precisely the same deluxe transportation, accommodations and special services offered by The Sun Publishing Company.

AS MANY coupons as you wish may be deposited for the drawing. Coupons are available throughout the Broadway Shopping Center.

"Broadway was shopping around for an outstanding gift we could make available to our friends in Contra Costa—a gift in addition to the year 'round gift of quality merchandise at quantity prices and many other special Broadway offers," Putz explained.

"We feel that The Sun Orient Tour is such a gift, one that will be appreciated by any lucky two persons in the area," he said.

The 22-day tour, with jet transportation to the Orient by BOAC and accommodations in the best of hotels, begins April 18. The lucky winners will spend "cherry-blossom time" in Japan and Hong Kong.

The varied schedule, liberally laced with free time in addition to planned visits to tourist attractions, includes stops at Tokyo, Nikko, Miyanoshita, Atami, Kyoto, Nara, Osaka and Hong Kong.

Refresher Class For Nurses at Diablo Valley

Charles K. Sapper, assistant dean of instruction at Diablo Valley College, reports that applications for the college's fifth registered nurse refresher course are now being accepted. Instruction begins February 20.

First of its kind in Northern California when first introduced on the Concord campus a year ago, the course is specifically designed for the registered nurse who left the profession but wishes to return.

Of some 80 nurses who have enrolled in the DVC program since its inception, far more than half have returned to active duty, Sapper said.

County Tax Plan Explored

A "thorough study" of proposed county-wide school tax legislation has been launched by the Contra Costa Taxpayers' Association.

The legislation will be considered during the state legislature's present session, according to association committee chairman Mrs. Phyllis Wainwright of Martinez.

"Last month we heard the California Teachers' Association proposal presented by CTA executive Jack Rees," Mrs. Wainwright said.

The association also heard a report on the state department of education proposal from associate superintendent of schools for California, Ron Cox.

Another point of view, that of Dr. James Corson, executive secretary of the California Association of School Administrators, will be heard at February meeting, the chairman reported.

"We hope to present our board and the public with an informed opinion on the proposal," she said.

Co-op Elects Officers, Considers 1963 Plans

Consumers Cooperative of Berkeley, Incorporated, elected officers for 1963 and reported on growth in 1962 and future plans for 1963 at board and membership meetings held in Berkeley last week.

George G. Little of Berkeley was elected president of the board of directors.

Others elected to office are Carroll Melbin of Napa, vice-president; Eugene Mannila of Berkeley, secretary, and Stanley Erle Brown, also of Berkeley, treasurer.

Mannila is also general manager for all seven Co-op centers in Berkeley, Walnut Creek and Castro Valley.

Center council chairman for the valley area, with stores at 1510 Geary Road and at 1295 South Main Street, Walnut Creek, is Robert Leffmann of Lafayette.

Mannila announced to the membership a 1962 patronage volume of $16,018,645, compared with last year's volume of $11,081,588, an increase of 45 per cent.

This year's net savings of $522,814 were returned to 24,531 shareholding members in patronage refunds at 2.64 per cent.

Total assets increased 46 per cent, with a membership gain of 25 per cent. Over the last seven months, new memberships averaged 173 shareholding families per week.

"We expect an annual sales volume well in excess of $20,000,000 in 1963," he added.

In addition to the purchase of the Sids chain last March, bringing the number of centers in Berkeley, Walnut Creek and Castro Valley up to seven, Mannila pointed out further results of Co-op growth in the offering of non-food goods and services.

Nelson Will Plan Programs

Ron Nelson of Ronayne Sales and Development, brokerage administrator and developer, is the program chairman, Commercial Multiple Listing Service Division of the Contra Costa Board of Realtors, according to Hugh Flynn, head of the Commercial-Industrial Department.

The division consists of 90 members of the local real estate board, who specialize in bringing commercial and industrial clients into the area.

Filipino Dancers Entertain During B'way Celebration

The Omania troupe of Filipino dancers will perform in Broadway Shopping Center during the center's Thursday-through-Saturday oriental celebration.

Dancers in the troupe's repertoire include the Hawaiian dance, the Bamboo dance and the Light dance, featuring burning candles.

There are five members in the dance troupe, all sons or daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Enar Omania, Concord.

They include Louis, Rudy, Sophia, Charmaine and Irene Omania.

The group will perform in Broadway through arrangements of the Broadway Merchants Association.

Young Republicans Plan For Big Fund Raising

Contra Costa County Young Republican Executive Board held its first meeting of the year January 29 at the county realty board in Walnut Creek.

Roger Dunn of Lafayette, newly elected chairman, presided over the hour-long business session.

After routine business, plans were put forth for a countywide fund-raising drive to be held in the latter part of May. This fund drive will be headed locally by Hal Stevens, Walnut Creek representative-at-large to the board.

Workers will personally contact each Republican household in the county, asking for donations of $1 or more. This method of collection can result in total contributions of more than $40,000, Stevens said.

Dunn also appointed seven delegates and three alternates for the Young Republican state convention to be held today, tomorrow and Sunday in Fresno.

He circulated the statement of Harry Keaton, present state Young Republican chairman, which claimed a "John Birch Society takeover" attempt was taking place.

Dunn, although stating the delegates are free to vote their own conscience, emphasized the fact that Contra Costa Young Republicans have never been split along ideological lines.

He further expressed the hope that the county Young Republicans would remain united after the state convention.

Reserve Unit Is Honored by Navy For Berlin Duty

For outstanding service to their country during the Berlin callup, six Weekend Warrior squadrons from the Naval Air Reserve Training Unit at Alameda Naval Air Station were honored recently.

The commanding officers of the reserve aviation squadrons received plaques and letters of commendation from the chief of Naval Air Reserve Training.

Captain Raymond E. Hill, USN, who commands NARTU Alameda, made the presentations in behalf of Rear Admiral William I. Martin, USN, who was unable to leave his headquarters in Glenview, Illinois, for the occasion.

Commander William T. Worden, USNR-R, 125 Lucinda Lane, Walnut Creek, who commands VS-873, the Noel Davis Trophy winning squadron as most efficient VS squadron in the nation.

Commander Robert L. Mini, USNR-R, 402 Ralph Avenue, Crockett, commander of VS-872, former four times Noel Davis winner and runnerup to VS-873.

Commander Edward R. Roberts, USNR-R, 1825 Liberty Street, El Cerrito, commander of VP-872, which won the Noel Davis Trophy as best VP squadron.

Commander Roger Patterson, USNR-R, 250 Overhill Road, Orinda, commander of VP-878.

During the presidential callup VP-878 was VS-877 and commanded by Commander Merle L. Osgood, USNR-R, 1924 Marguerite Avenue, Pleasant Hill.

May the kingdom of God within you — with you alway — reascending, bear you outward, upward, heavenward.

Round Japanese Garden Displayed in Broadway

A Japanese garden designed exclusively for Broadway Shopping Center's Oriental Celebration Thursday through Saturday will be on display in front of the Lucky Store in the Walnut Creek center.

The garden, arranged through the courtesy of the Diablo Gardeners' Association, has been designed by association member Henry Matsutani, a landscape contractor.

According to association president Soshi Tamori, Matsutani has designed a circular garden 15 feet in diameter for the celebration.

IT WILL feature, the president said, a small pool and waterfall effect in the midst of oriental rock and shrubbery.

"Such a garden," publicity chairman George Sunayama reported, is easily adaptable to the needs of the average home owner."

The garden, he said, could be well located in a small corner of a yard or as a center attraction in a larger yard.

He explained that the small artistic garden was also extremely effective adjacent to a patio area.

The association, whose members are all professional gardeners or landscape contractors, is a sub-organization in the area's Japanese-American club, Sunayama said.

"We feel the garden, tying in with Broadway's exciting celebration, will give area residents an idea of the beauty which can be achieved in a garden where space is limited," he added.

Plants for the garden have been provided through the courtesy of McDonnell Nursery in Walnut Creek with large stones donated by Rieger Stone Supply of Walnut Creek.
